Hitler 'Injured' As Rose Bouquet Hits Him In Face

Overenthusiastic Sudeten Tosses Flowers as Fuehrer Parades Conquered Territory; Scratched Chancellor Orders Floral Tributes Seized; Gives Talk Sunday.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Adolf Hitler was slightly injured in the face today when an overenthusiastic Sudetenlander tossed a bouquet of flowers at the fuehrer, making a triumphal tour of the fourth zone of occupation.

Dispatches from the Sudetenland reporting the incident did not say just where it occurred.

As a result of the mishap the fuehrer issued a general order that Nazi party leaders henceforth will be held personally responsible for seeing to it that flowers are taken away from all persons along his line of march.

Even small bouquets in the hands of spectators must be seized.

The population also was admonished strongly by broadcast to refrain from saying it with flowers. Afternoon papers published warnings against flower throwing.

Hitler today visited the first part of the fourth zone of occupation, on the northern fringe of central Czechoslovakia. Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering accompanied the reichsfuehrer.

Hit Squarely In Face.

Authoritative reports said Hitler's face was scratched when he was hit squarely by a big bunch of roses.

However, the injury was so slight that medical attention was not needed.

Government circles said that the fuehrer might make an "important announcement" on French-German relations Sunday at Saarbruecken, in the Saar valley.

From the latest German acquisition, Sudetenland, the chancellor is scheduled to make an overnight cross-country journey to the Saar territory, returned to the reich in 1935 following a plebiscite, the informants said.

Saturday would then be Hitler's last day of triumphal visits through Sudetenland. On Sunday he is expected to lay the cornerstone of one of the first of the Nazi cultural monuments, a Saarbruecken theater, in the Saar basin.

It was said if Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering gives him a favorable report on the status of negotiations with France, Hitler would use the occasion to express friendship with France in some way.

Berlin Views German, Czech Economic Union.

BERLIN—(AP)—Nazi circles predicted confidently today that remnants of Czechoslovakia soon would have close economic bonds with Germany.

The ties would be so firm, they said, that even the transfer of Czechoslovak populations on a large scale from the "wrong" side of the new borders to the "right side" might prove unnecessary.

They pointed out Czechoslovakia had lost most of its industrial

SPEEDY CO-ED

Police Charge Ashland Girl Drove 70 Miles an Hour.

An 18-year-old Ashland college co-ed, charged with operating an automobile on Park avenue west last night at 70 miles an hour, will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court tomorrow on a charge of speeding.

Police said they chased Doris Zehner for nearly a mile after she sped past a cruiser at Bowman street. She was released without bond and ordered to appear in court at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Lieut. Paul Whipp and Patrolman John Gilbert said they had to drive 70 miles an hour before catching her at Trimble road.

The girl was accompanied by a girl companion and two youths.

BLAZING TRUCK DESTROYS HOUSE

Driver Risks Life By Removing Caps From Gas Tanks.

IRONTON—(AP)—Ignited by a flaming gasoline tank truck, a rooming house and lunch room were destroyed here early today in a spectacular fire.

Tip Deering, en route from Coal Grove to Washington Court House with 3,600 gallons of gasoline, noticed his truck was on fire. Risking death, he pulled to the curb and removed the tank caps to prevent an explosion by giving the gasoline air.

Just as he removed the last cap and sprang clear, the gasoline flamed up 100 feet into the air. The Ashland, Ky., fire department aided Ironton firemen in answering a general alarm.

2 FOUND DEAD

Policemen Believed Overcome by Fumes From Cruiser.

TROY, N. Y.—(AP)—Two Troy policemen, believed by Police Chief John B. Conroy to have been overcome by fumes from the motor of their prowl car, died in a hospital early today.

The men, Patrolmen Fred A. Popp, 43, and Frank E. Connelly, 37, were found unconscious in their machine at a gasoline station.

WITNESS TELLS OF SLOT PAYOFF

Paid $2.50 Weekly for Each Machine, Defendant Says at Lorain 'Racket' Trial.

(By International News Service)

ELYRIA—Harry Ziegman, of Lorain, one of five alleged slot machine operatorrs being tried here on bribery charges appeared on the stand in his own defense today and said that he made regular payoffs of $2.50 per week per machine to Alfred G. Bauer, Elyria Democratic central committee chairman.

Ziegman said that Bauer called a meeting of the alleged operators at his home in Elyria in the spring of 1937, and announced:

"I'm going to run the slot machines in this county. I'm going to divide the slots and tell you where you can put your machines."

He said that Bauer, who testified earlier that he turned over 85 per cent of the protection money to former Chief Deputy William G. Smith, told the defendants that if they did not pay him $2.50 per week, they would be "run out of the county."

The trial of Ziegman and Dave Crawford, sr., Dave Crawford, jr., and William Peer, of Lorain, and Stanton S. Hobbs, of Oberlin, was delayed this morning when Judge Guy B. Findley held a conference with defense and prosecution attorneys after one of the jurors, a woman, was reported to have said that "there is a rotten mess in the sheriff's office to be cleaned up."

Thex juror was reprimanded, but the trial continued. The men are charged with paying protection money to Sheriff William F. Grall and Smith.

Chief Deputy John Fulton and Deputy Rodman Douglas, who were the first defense witnesses called, told the court of a meeting of deputies last summer at which Grall, former mayor of Lorain, and his Chief Deputy William G. Smith had been forced to reveal that they were receiving

CUBS FINALLY BEAT YANKEES

Their Train Arrives In New York Ahead of Bronx Bombers.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The Chicago Cubs finally beat the New York Yankees today—beat them into town by ten minutes—as both the National and American league champions arrived from Chicago to resume the World Series tomorrow at Yankee Stadium with the Bronx Bombers holding a 2-0 lead in games.

As the Cub special drew into Fennsylvania station, all was quiet. Gabby Hartnett's gang, apparently, still was suffering from shell shock after the Yankee home run guns exploded in their faces in yesterday's second game.

The Yankees, in contrast, were happy and confident, and even happier when Manager Joe McCarthy gave them the day off.

VOTE-SEEKING BANDWAGON READY TO ROLL

Democrats and Republicans to Begin Month-Long Drive in City Next Week.

TWO RALLIES ON MONDAY

Sawyer and Bricker Campaign in Rural Areas; Bulkley, Taft Set for Debate.

The political bandwagon will roll into Mansfield next week as both Democrats and Republicans start their month-long battle for votes at the November election.

Both parties will stage rallies Monday night, with Democrats dedicating their new headquarters in the former Montgomery-Ward building on West Fourth street with a dance and brief talks by state candidates.

While Charles Sawyer, the Democratic candidate for governor, and his Republican opponent, John W. Bricker, campaigned in the state's rural areas, the candidates for United States senator prepared for the first of their series of six political debates at Marietta Saturday night.

Argue Over New Deal.

Robert A. Taft, the Republican senatorial candidate, will argue the affirmative of the subject, "New Deal Planned Economy is a Failure, and Offers No Solution for Unemployment and Depression."

Robert J. Bulkley, the Democratic incumbent will argue the negative, and Taft will be allowed a brief rebuttal. The debate, which will be held in the Marietta College field house, is expected to attract 7,000 persons.

In Mansfield, J. Finley Wilson, Washington, D. C., national exalted ruler of the colored Elks lodge, will address a rally of colored voters at 8 p. m. Monday in Republican headquarters on North Main street.

State Candidates Speak.

State Democratic candidates have been invited to speak at the dedication of the county Democratic headquarters the same night. State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley's orchestra will play for the dedication dance.

Although Sawyer's speaking schedule calls for a talk here Saturday night, Oct. 15, county Democratic leaders said they had requested that he visit the city Oct. 22 for talks in the afternoon and evening. Plans for the meetings were incomplete today.

Don H. Ebright, Akron, candidate for state treasurer, and Earl Griffith, Mt. Gilead, Republican nominee for secretary of state, are scheduled to speak at a dinner meeting Friday night at Republican headquarters. G. O. P. county executive and central committeemen and election officials will attend.

In a talk at Wellston last night,

PLANTS CLOSE

12,000 Idle as UAW Forces 32-Hour Week Demands.

DETROIT—(AP)—A United Automobile Workers' demonstration for a 32-hour week closed two large factories here today and left approximately 12,000 men idle.

The main plant of the Plymouth Motor corporation remained closed this morning when approximately 3,000 employes stood outside the gates and refused to enter, declaring they would not work more than 32 hours weekly.

A short time later the Mack avenue plant of the Briggs Manufacturing company, which employs 9,000 men making bodies for the Plymouth plant, also closed, awaiting resumption of Plymouth operations.

BAD-TEMPERED

'Lies, All Lies,' Toronto Stork Winner Says From Jail Cell.

TORONTO, Ont.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Martin Kenny, bad-tempered winner of a $12,500 consolation prize in the $500,000 Toronto maternity marahon, shrilled from her jail cell today that arson charges against her were "lies, all lies!"

The arrest followed an investigation of the latest of five fires in various houses occupied by the Kenny family.

Frost Really On Pumpkin as Mercury Hits 26---Ice Forms

There was frost aplenty on Richland county pumpkins this morning as the temperature fell to 26 degrees, the lowest of the season.

It was the first killing frost of the season and doomed vegetation which had escaped three previous frosts. Thin ice formed on puddles and in exposed vessels of water as the mercury dropped to six degrees below freezing.

The freeze is believed to have caused little damage, however, since most crops susceptible to cold have been harvested.

Mansfield again was one of the coldest spots in the state where readings in the low 30's were common. Columbus had 36; Cincinnati 38, and Cleveland, 42. The coldest spot on the continent was White River, Ont., where a reading of 22 degrees was reported.

With the weatherman predicting fair and slightly warmer weather for tonight and Saturday, ideal football weather is in prospect for the Saturday afternoon games.

A reading of 54 degrees in Mansfield at noon today forecast another killing frost tonight.

Snapped as Cubs Fall Again Before Yanks

A Roosevelt Cheers—James Roosevelt, upper left, the president's son and personal secretary, let's out a cheer for somebody during the second World Series game in Chicago, won by the Yankees, 6 to 3. Roosevelt looked as if he had completely recovered from his recent operation.

Noble Effort—Heavy of heart and weary of arm, Dizzy Dean is shown walking off the field after being removed from the second game during an eighth inning Yankee uprising. Diz had given all his ailing arm had in it, but it wasn't enough.

Still 'Greatest Man'—To Mrs. Nellie Hartnett, her son, Gabby Hartnett, manager of the Chicago Cubs, is the "greatest man in the world". Mrs. Hartnett is on hand to watch Gabby's team play the Yanks in the world series. In fact, she was caught by the camera planting a big kiss on her boy in Chicago.

CUT-OFF PAVING READY DEC. 15

Route 42 Project to Be Opened Before Christmas If Good Weather Continues.

With favorable weather, the Windsor cut-off on route 42 northeast of Mansfield will be opened to traffic by Dec. 15, Boyd Wierman, resident state highway engineer for Richland county, announced today.

Workmen already have poured 8,200 feet of concrete on the paving project and should complete this part of the work in 10 days, he said. Bricklaying will begin in a few days on the Richland county end of the project in order to complete the major part of the work before cold weather, Wierman added.

Approximately three-fourths of a mile of the project will not be paved until next spring, since it could not be completed this fall and to start it now would mean that only one-way traffic could use the route during the winter, Wierman said. The section to be paved next year is in Richland county.

Completion of the part now under construction, however, will provide a clear stretch of highway across the Richland-Ashland county line and eliminate the hazards of the old highway.

More than half of the 3.59 miles of new paving will be brick on a concrete base, while the rest, or the section in Ashland county, will be concrete slab construction, 30 feet wide.

Construction is in charge of the W. H. Ringwald company, Chillicothe. Cost of the project will be $251,000.

British Send More Troops to Disorder Scene in Holy Land.

JERUSALEM—(INS)—British authorities seeking to stamp out the wave of riots, sniping and other disorders sweeping the Holy Land awaited troop reinforcement today as they attempted to drive Arab brigands from Palestine's northern areas.

At least 60 Arabs were reported killed in the most recent battle between troops and outlaws which took place along the Acre-Ras El Nakura road in the northern part of Palestine.

Captive Catfish Have Nine Lives Too?

TULSA, Okla.—(AP)—"Arsenic," captive catfish which serves as a living textbook for a high school science class, is to be rewarded for his stamina by being tossed back into his native pool.

When classes reconvened and Arsenic was found reposing on some damp sand he retained enough spirit to drive a fin in his rescuer's hand. A pair of galoshes left in the room had been melted by the summer's heat.

HITS ESPIONAGE

Roosevelt Says U.S. to Tighten Nation's Spy Defense.

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today disclosed the administration was planning to tighten its defenses against activities of foreign spies.

The president, in response to press conference questions, said he was seeking to determine what new machinery might be set up to frustrate efforts by foreign agents to obtain military and naval secrets of this country.

He mentioned in this connection that it might be possible to effect a closer co-ordination of the activities of the military and naval intelligence services, the federal bureau of investigation and similar agencies.

HOORAY FOR JOE!

DiMaggio's Parents Celebrate As He Smacks Homer.

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—A tiny voice answered the telephone at the home of Joe DiMaggio's parents.

"Papa and Mama DiMaggio are out in the front room." It was Betty Kron, niece of the Yankees' star outfielder and home run buster, talking. "Papa has mama and they are dancing around the room. Papa is shouting, 'Hooray, he hit a big one'."

OIL EXPLODES

Man Killed, Woman Burned Trying To Start Fire.

DAYTON—(AP)—Ervin Shaw, 31, was fatally burned and his housekeeper, Mrs. Grace Dunn, 26, was burned seriously when kerosene in a can which Shaw had thrown on a coal fire exploded early today.

Shaw's three children, six, four and three years old, respectively, and Mrs. Dunn's one month old child were not injured in the blast which wrecked the interior of the home.

SEEKS DATA ON MILK DUMPING

Mayor to Ask Dairy Operators to End Practice Menacing Sewage Treatment.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter today called upon J. R. Turner, superintendent of the city's sewage treatment plant, for data concerning the dumping of milk waste into Mansfield sewers by local dairies. The milk-dumping practice was cited by James R. Collier, sewage technician, as the chief cause for inefficient operation of the plant.

Hunter said he would ask Turner to prepare the necessary data so that it could be presented local dairy operators with the request that they dispose of their waste milk in another manner.

While still undecided what course of action he will follow, Hunter said he would probably seek the dairymen's co-operation

BEET WORKERS DELAY STRIKE

Walkout Postponed, Pending Labor Hearings In Michigan.

TOLEDO—(INS)—Work went on as usual today in the sugar beet fields of northwestern Ohio and southern Michigan after union field workers delayed their proposed strike for the second time a few hours before the midnight deadline.

Members of the CIO United Canneries, Agricultural, Packing and Allied Workers decided to delay the strike at least until labor department hearings were held here and in Ottawa, Mich., in December.

The delay was urged on union members by Donald Henderson, of Washington, president of the union.

Yankee Bats Put Cub Fans In Mourning

'Coronation' Turns Into 'Wake' In Baseball Dizzy Town.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—It was like the morning after the funeral in Chicago today.

This baseball dizzy town thought they had been invited to a coronation and found out it was just a wake.

Actually, it was hard to walk around the corner or get comfortably parked in a street car before an utter stranger would break out under your nose with: "Gosh, if . . . those, lucky . . . " and a lot more of the same.

The conversation, if it could be worked past the stage of a soliloquy usually ended up with the assertion which was really more of a forlorn question:

"Well, we'll get 'em in New York. What d'y' think?"

What I might think isn't of very great moment, but you can put plenty weight on the way the Yankees look at it.

They came ripping into the dressing room after yesterday's slam bang defeat of the Cubs as if they had just copped the seventh and rubber game of the series. The words of Lou Gehrig might be taken for the way the whole gang felt.

"All they've got left is Bryant. He's a swifty. We like a swifty. Then they've got to come back with Lee. We like Lee, too. That makes four doesn't it? Or does it?"

Sad as it might sound to the local lads, that was just about the way they figured too, underneath a covering of bluster that you could see through with about the same difficulty as cellaphane.

The Yanks, in New York now for the third game Saturday, definitely felt the defeat of Dizzy Dean was the blow off; that they might as well mark the winners' end of the purse in their bankbooks right now. That is what ball players do with their money. Put it in banks, or safer still, in the sock.

The kingly dignity of the Yanks was gone when they got back to the showers, but with all of back slapping, bum jokes and mighty laughter they took time out to pay a bit of tribute to the man they had just shooed off the mound.

"That Dizzy Dean...what a heart that man has," said Man-

MAPS CLEAN-UP

U. S. Promises Aid to Mop Up Ohio's Illicit Liquor.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Federal Alcohol Administrator W. S. Alexander announced today that special investigators would be sent into Ohio and Kentucky in an intensive drive to break up illegal sale of liquor in competition with Ohio state liquor stores.

Alexander's announcement followed a conference with State Auditor Joseph Ferguson, who told federal alcohol administration officials that Ohio is losing a large amount of revenue to whisky bootleggers.

Auditor Ferguson indicated that much of the illicit traffic enters in and around Cincinnati, and that that city is the main channel for sending Kentucky whisky to points in Ohio to be sold illegally.

Alexander said that the government men would be ordered to inspect the books of distillers, rectifying plants and whisky jobbers.

DETROIT—(INS)—Production of 1939 Graham automobiles began today with 1,000 men called back to work. The new models will be ready for Oct. 17 delivery, company officials said.

FAILS TO HEAR AUTO; DRIVER EXONERATED

Harvey Palmer, 65, Resident of Little Washington, in Mansfield Hospital.

STRUCK AS CAR SWERVES

5 Others Hurt in 2 Accidents Involving 5 Machines in Ashland County.

Struck by an automobile as he walked along the road near his home yesterday afternoon, Harvey Palmer, 65, of Little Washington, south of Mansfield, was near death today in Mansfield General hospital.

Palmer suffered a skull fracture, a compound fracture of his left leg and head lacerations. His condition was described as critical. He has been unconscious since the accident.

Accident In Daylight.

Glenn Hoffman, Shelby, driver of the car, was exonerated by Sheriff E. P. Long, who said Palmer was nearly deaf and apparently did not hear the car approaching from behind. The accident occurred about 2 p. m.

Hoffman said he blew the horn and swerved his car into a ditch to avoid hitting Palmer who had started across the Little Washington road toward his home on a sideroad.

The right rear fender of the car struck Palmer as Hoffman swerved the machine to the left, throwing Palmer several feet, Deputy Sheriff Frank Robinson said. Palmer was headed north on the right side of the road. The car was traveling in the same direction.

Palmer is not married. He lived with his brother a short distance north of Little Washington.

Mansfielder Injured.

Five persons, including a Mansfield man and two others from Shelby, were hurt last night in two accidents involving five cars in Ashland county.

Injured in the crashes were Loren S. Mundy, 625 Park avenue west, who suffered face lacerations; J. W. Rhoads of Shelby, fractured shoulder; Harry Laws, Shelby, face lacerations; Clinton Greenbank, 17, Sullivan, Ashland county, head lacerations and Mrs.

Blood Test Upheld By Ohio Court In Paternity Trial

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The use of blood tests as trial evidence stood approved by the second district court of appeals today as that court upheld Judge Clayton W. Rose, of the domestic relations court in granting a new trial to Harold Wright, 22.

Wright was convicted by a jury of being the father of a baby girl born to Miss Opal Baxter, 22, despite evidence by experts that blood tests showed Wright could not have been one of the parents.

Judge Rose granted a new trial, basing his action largely on the testimony of Dr. Harriet S. Hyman, of Ohio State university. The prosecution appealed and in affirming unanimously Judge Rose's ruling, the appellate court said:

"We are of the opinion that if, as testified by the expert, this science of blood grouping has been so developed and has proved so accurate, that it is not only admissable, but of very high value."

Bromfield, City's 'Famous Son,' Will Make Home Here Again

Mansfield's famous literary son is on his way back to the "old home town", or soon will be, to take up a temporary residence here, according to letters received by friends here.

Louis Bromfield, who is listed among the "great" in contemporary literature and is said to be one of the 10 fiction writers in the world whose writings bring him an income of more than five figures each year, will sail for America the latter part of October. His wife and children have already left the Bromfield chateau at Senlis, France and are on their way to New York City where she will stop briefly before coming on to Mansfield to look for a home.

Bromfield, who is still "Louie" to Mansfield friends, indicated in a letter to a friend here this week that the family will live in Mansfield, at least for awhile.

The author, who began his writings while still a schoolboy in Mansfield and who was a "cub" reporter on Mansfield newspapers, left here several years before the World war to attend Columbia university. On his 21st birthday he sailed for France and

SEES AMERICA SAFE FROM WAR FOR 10 YEARS

Historian Points to Oceans, Peaceful Canada, Weaker Nations as Safeguards.

(Nobody doubts that Germany's bloodless victory over Czechoslovakia, smashing one more section of the World war peace treaties, changes the course of European history. But what does it mean for the United States? Where are we heading in foreign affairs? These questions are discussed in the following article by James Truslow Adams, a spectator at the Paris peace conference in 1919 and a distinguished historian.)

By JAMES TRUSLOW ADAMS
(Written for Associated Press)

You ask what the present European situation holds for America in the long run.

First, what is that situation?

War has been averted, probably for a number of years unless something unexpected occurs. But there remain sore spots, ambitions, and 1919 boundaries that may yet have to be redrawn. The system of collective security has broken down. Force or the threat of it, regardless of treaties and the Kellogg Pact, has been successfully used.

The latest case, which brought us to the very edge of a world war, is important from that respect rather than from that of the partial dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, which I thought, when at the peace conference, was badly constructed and which is only 19 years old. It was synthetically made and not historically developed. Again, Europe has reverted to a balance of powers, and the democratic and dictator states stand in opposite camps. That all means continued tension if not war.

The United States, without the threat of a major war in Europe, is probably safe from war for 10 years at least. The oceans are now to us what the English Channel used to be to England. We have peaceful Canada to the north and nations which could not attack us to the south. What does all this mean to us?

Old Order Changeth.

Fifty years ago it would probably have meant a great internal exploitation of a half empty land, from immigration, and an increase in our world trade. Today the first will continue negligible in spite of the great numbers who want to come to us, which means that our internal development of resources and business will not have that stimulus. World trade is not likely to expand with rapidiy for any nation, and no more for us than others even with uncertainty in Europe and a more or less assured certainty of peace here.

Trade barriers, exchange difficulties, and the fact that former importing nations have tried, in manufacturing and food supplies, to become largely self supporting under the new nationalism tend to preclude in the future any such swift development as placed England in the van in the last century.

What the present situation offers us is perhaps, at a minimum, 10 years in which to set our own house in order without the disturbing factors of war, and to adjust our industry and agriculture to the new world conditions. Doing what we can, for our own sake and that of others, to rebuild international trade, we can concentrate on our serious domestic problems without the economic, social and physical deflections due to war.

Glorious Opportunity.

This is an opportunity which seemed lost only a few days ago. What we make of it, both in our domestic policies and our efforts to restore slowly a larger degree of international trade in whatever ways it can be built up under the new conditions, will depend upon curselves.

What the European situation and our own geographical position mean to us just that we may HAVE that opportunity, and not any spectacular change in population, industry trade or lessening of unemployment.

A war will now probably not offer us any chance of selling vast quantities of goods at high prices; and the promised peace will settle no problems but merely give us a breathing space to try to settle them in quiet.

War would probably have destroyed our civilization. Now we have a chance to salvage what we can of the old values which made that civilization cherished by independent democracies, and to readjust the social and economic machinery to permanently altered conditions.

If we can solve our domestic problems, I believe that conditions in Europe mean that the star of destiny will shine above the New and not the Old World in the future, but not that they mean any sudden or immediate shift in our own economic world position.

Organization of County McGuffey Society Planned

Plans were under way today to organize a McGuffey society in Richland county at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Mansfield Public library.

D. W. Cass, Cleveland, former Mansfielder and regional president of Ohio McGuffey societies, will speak. Cass operated a bakery here about 25 years ago.

Persons interested in the work of the late Dr. William H. McGuffey, author of the famous school readers bearing his name, have been invited to attend the meeting, Philip Wolfe, former Mansfield service-safety director, who will preside, said.

Wolfe added that the purpose of the society was to renew interest in the old McGuffey readers and to keep alive the work of Dr. McGuffey, who was president of Ohio university at Athens and a professor at Miami university, Oxford.

GRIMLY determined to extend the victory string of their record, marred by only one defeat, Coach Russ Murphy's Mansfield high school Tygers tapered off today for their encounter with Columbus East at Stadium field at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

A preliminary game between two junior high school elevens is scheduled to get under way at 1 p. m.

Seek Third Win.

The Tyger's record now includes two victories and a defeat, and they are favored to run the wins to three Saturday.

While victory chances appear rather bright, it is not likely that the Men of Murphy will have everything their own way as the visiting Tigers have shown considerable improvement in recent games.

White

The Columbus club has not won a game in three starts this season, but Coach Ralph Webster expects his Tigers to give Mansfield a tussle, although he is not predicting a victory for his men.

Although the Tygers are favored, Mansfield and East will have something in common. Both are unseasoned. Mansfield, however, packs more scoring punch than the invaders, judging from the records. The hosts are also expected to hold a weight advantage, with speed about on a par.

The starting Mansfield lineup will be slightly changed. Center Harold Gallagher will be replaced by Dick White. Gallagher suffered an ankle injury this week that is expected to keep him out of action in the game.

Lacking experience, White, a junior, is a promising center, but his passing has not been as dependable as desired, Murphy said. Another junior, Dick Sauder, is also expected to see some service at the pivot post Saturday.

Murphy said there is also a possibility that Mike Horvath will be at a tackle instead of Bob Murray, who has been ill

Pleasing to Murphy in drills this week has been the blocking improvement shown by Marshall Smith, Bob Guegold and Ed Goettle at guards. Grover Swoyer's blocking in the backfield has also been of high order

Murphy also indicated that Al Schwaner may be given an opportunity to do more ball carrying in Saturday's game. He displayed considerable punch on the attack in scrimmages this week Red Lemunyon's development as a passer has also brightened the backfield play

Russ Beer continues to stand out as an end with Jack Prion, late of Ontario developing rapidly at the same position

Kinkel Improves.

Ed Kinkel a brother of John, one of last years mainstays, has also shown improvement as a fullback and is likely to see service against East, Murphy said

Just what Columbus has to offer in the way of an attack is not known but Murphy expects his Tygers to get another workout against passes

Among the outstanding players in East's games this year have been Capt Carl Gunning a guard and Jim Johnston a good pass receiver.

Minnesota Favored To Wallop Purdue

CHICAGO—(AP)—Mighty Minnesota makes the first defense of its Big Ten football title tomorrow as conference competition opens on four fronts

The week-end schedule pits Minnesota against speedy Purdue, Wisconsin against Iowa Chicago against Michigan and Indiana against Illinois.

Northwestern is the latest starter in the Big Ten race The Wildcats, who walloped Kansas State last week and face Drake tomorrow, will not begin conference play until they take on Ohio State next week

The Gophers with victories over Washington and Nebraska, were favorites to halt the Purdue challenge.

Check-up Reveals Mistake in Standings.

It was erroneously reported to The News-Journal at the conclusion of postponed Y. M. C. A. club softball league games that the Catholic Foresters and Schoolmasters tied for the title. The Foresters won the title, a check up revealed

In winning the championship outright, the Foresters broke the three-year domination of the Schoolmasters. The Foresters won 13 games and lost only one, the only defeat coming at the hands of Zents' Radios by a 5 to 4 count. The official standings follow.

Hartnett's Not Ready To Give Up Series Yet.

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK WITH THE CHICAGO CUBS (INS)—There were no lilies in the Cubs' hands today as Gabby Hartnett's boys, two games down in the 1938 world series, rode eastward for New York and their third game against the Yankees there on Saturday.

Hartnett will send Clay Bryant in to pitch tomorrow against either Monte Pearson or Spud Chandler for the Yankees. Hartnett said: "We will shoot Clay Bryant at 'em Saturday and on Sunday they will have to look at Bill Lee's stuff again. This series isn't over by a long shot." Asked how many games he expected to win, Hartnett said: "Four! We will win when we start hitting and that will be tomorrow."

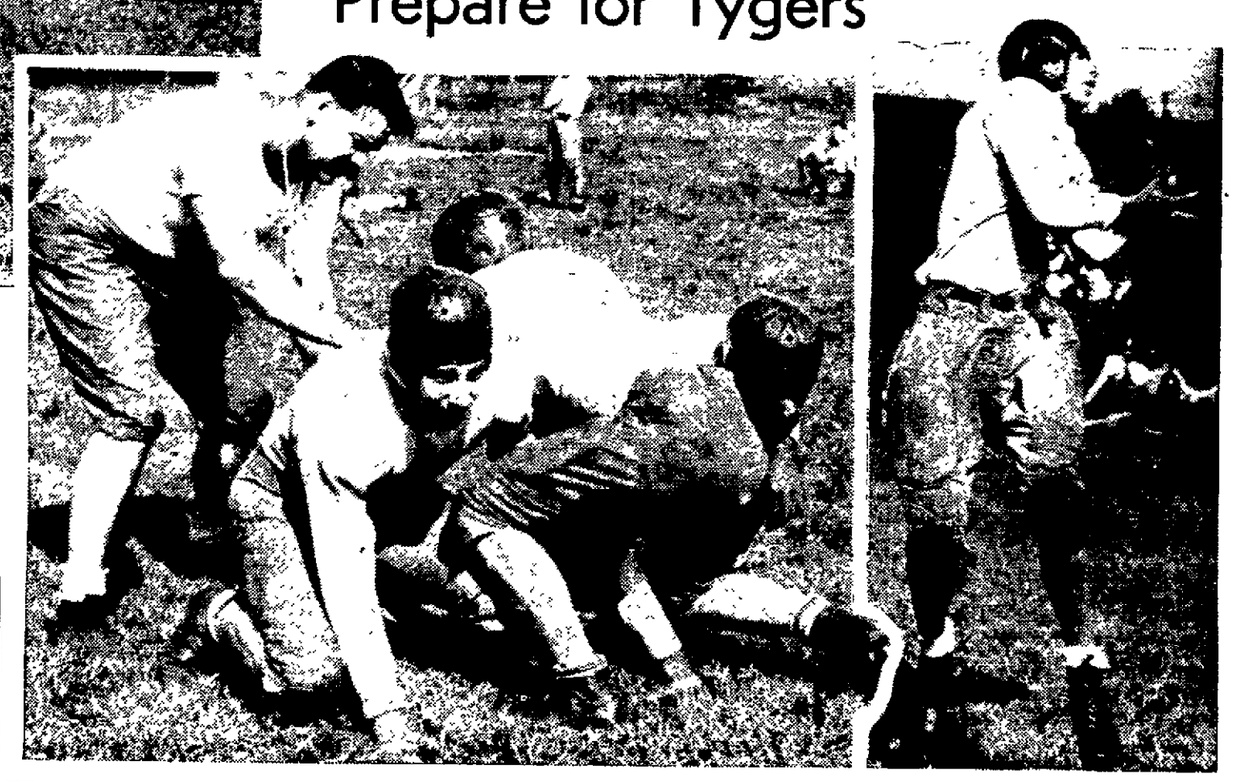
Prepare for Tygers



Mt. Vernon, Galion and Crestline Games Top Tonight's Bill; Shelby At Ashland Saturday

GAMES under the bulbs at Mt. Vernon, Galion and Crestline will hold attention of north central Ohio football fans tonight.

However, Mansfield is chiefly interested in the outcome of the Mt. Vernon tilt, which finds the Yellow Jackets engaging the undefeated Madison Rams.

Galion is host to Bucyrus in the lone N. C. O. conference game, and Crestline, defeated by Madison last week, entertains Upper Sandusky.

Madison has never beaten a team coached by Paul Snyder, and tonight it is offered a chance to avenge past whippings.

Snyder formerly coached at New London, and his teams won two victories over the Rams.

Although the Rams are stepping out of their class in Mt. Vernon, they are given an even chance of toppling the Jackets, beaten by Newark and Shelby thus far this season.

Galion and Bucyrus will be renewing an old rivalry in the Galion ball park tonight. The Orangemen hold a one-game edge in the series, and are favorites to lengthen the margin tonight.

Crestline will attempt to stage a comeback at the expense of Upper Sandusky, which packs a stronger team than usual this season.

In addition to Columbus East's invasion of Mansfield, Saturday's schedule includes an N. C. O. tilt between Shelby and Ashland in Ashland.

This game will virtually determine the Whippets' title chances. If Shelby can get by the A's, it will be in a splendid position to challenge Galion for the honors.

Shelby, incidentally, has not won a game from Ashland since 1931 when it won 7 to 0. Since then, the nearest the Whippets came to whipping Ashland was in 1935 when they played to a scoreless tie and last year when they fought to a 7 to 7 deadlock.

Shelby and Ashland opened their rivalry in 1910, and both teams have won nine games with four ending in ties. The highest score in the rivalry was registered in 1915 when Ashland won, 72 to 0. The worst whipping Shelby administered was in 1923 when it won by a 38 to 0 margin.

Trojan Coach Returns To Old Stand In Ohio

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Back in 1910, when football was in its infancy around the Buckeye state, Howard Harding Jones of Middletown and Yale coached Ohio State's gridders through a 10-game schedule during which they won six, lost one and tied three.

Tomorrow that same Jones leads his Southern California Trojans into the big Buckeye stadium for a game with the 1938 edition of the team he coached 28 years ago.

Back in those days a crowd of 3,500 was just about "tops" and if a 10-game slate drew a total of 30,000, it was phenomenal. But tomorrow, as the Bucks and Trojans clash, close to 75,000 will be on hand

During Jones' lone year at Ohio State, his Buckeyes rolled up 182 points while the foe was getting 27. Victories were registered over Otterbein, Wittenberg, Cincinnati, Western Reserve, Ohio Wesleyan and Kenyon; Michigan, Denison and Oberlin were tied, but Case School of Applied Science finished on the heavy end of a 14 to 10 score.

Yet to Win One.

Ohio has a lot of tradition to upset if it expects to win over the big, hard-hitting invaders. In three games against Jones-coached elevens, two at the University of Iowa and one at Southern California, Ohio has finished second each time. And, too, the Bucks have never beaten a team from the west coast.

Jones and his squad of 37 Trojans were slated to arrive this morning. Twenty-two of the 37 are lettermen from the team that beat the Bucks 13 to 12 a year ago. Coach Francis A. Schmidt of Ohio can't boast that much experience on his squad, only 14 of his 54 having won letters. Five sophomores will be in the starting Ohio lineup, Jimmy Sexton from Jones' old home town, Middletown, being slated to take over Co-Captain Mike Kabealo's quarterbacking post in the week's only lineup shift.

Cubs' Title Hopes Fade As Series Scene Shifts

Chicago Backers Give Up When Crosetti and DiMaggio Slap Out Homers to Win Second Game.

By GAYLE TALBOT

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK—(AP)—Except for the fashionable huzzahs that will be sounded Sunday night in the Yankee stadium, that glittering gathering place of baseball's socialites up in the Bronx, the 1938 world series appears to be all wrapped up.

The Yankees are too good. Too good for the Chicago Cubs, and possibly too good for the future of baseball. As the two clubs head into New York to resume the unequal contest on Saturday with the Yankees already twice victorious, there isn't much to wonder about except whether Col. Jake Ruppert's super team will make it four straight.

The general belief on this railway carriage is that they will. When Frank Crosetti and Joe DiMaggio rapped those late inning home runs to beat Dizzy Dean, 6 to 3, yesterday, the most obstinate backers of the Cubs gave up.

Made Diz Look Good.

If the Yanks had done it sooner it wouldn't have been quite so bad. But they messed along and let Diz look like the biggest hero since Sergeant York for seven and two-thirds innings. Then they reached out slapped him down.

What chance the Cubs had of outgaming or outlucking the world champions in the series went off the field with Diz. If he had won his great effort by the score of 3 to 2 as it looked going into the eighth, then the series might have developed into a dog fight. But no club, barring a miracle, can spot this Yankee team two games.

Yesterday's was the 20th victory scored by the Yankees in their 23 world series games since 1927. No club ever before so dominated the game. Their weakest member, Frank Crosetti, highlighted the opening game with his fielding and yesterday the little shortstop with the piping voice hit the homer that virtually settled the series.

FRANK CROSETTI

It is a happy job pitching for the Yankees Vernon "Lefty" Gomez yesterday became the first pitcher ever to win his sixth straight world series victory without having suffered a loss, and El Goofy was enjoying a nice warm shower at the time.

Lefty, who had been maced right merrily by the Cubs as they ran up their 3 to 2 lead in the early innings, had retired for a pinch-hitter just before Crosetti buggy-whipped Dizzy's "fast ball" into the bleachers in the eighth. In fact, it was the pinch-hitter, Myril Hoag, who rode in on the big punch, so that made Lefty the winning pitcher.

Dean's "fast ball" is enclosed in quotations because it is very slow compared to the specimens that Diz used to rear back and fire across the plate in other days when he strode the mound like a colossus and stared in astonishment when somebody knocked one back at him. But it is the best fast ball he has now.

After the game Manager Joe McCarthy patted himself over the heart and said: "That fellow Dean has one of these." Hartnett said in the dressing room: "Diz, you gave me everything you had—and with a sore arm."

DiMaggio's mighty blow in the ninth with Henrich on base seemed an afterthought, for the game already was won and lost. The tall Italian caught the first pitch, a slow "nothing ball," and practically knocked it out of sight. By that time the crowd of 42,000 loyal Cub rooters was beyond all pain.

Call on Pearson.

For tomorrow's engagement, the Yankees haven't anyone to call upon except Monte Pearson, who recently pitched a no-hitter and who stopped the Giants in the third world series game a year ago. He has worked out hard the last two days and apparently has recovered from the illness that threatened to keep him out of the classic. The Cubs, having gambled and lost on Dean yesterday, must pin their scant hopes on young Clay Bryant, a fast-baller like Bill Lee, whom the Yankees pelted in the first game.

Incidentally, the success of the Yanks against Lee was due largely to the fact that their coach, Earl Combs, stood on the third base line and tipped off the batter what was coming on every pitch, a member of the Chicago club revealed today.

BATTLE TO DRAW

MODESTO, Calif.—George Salvadore, 145, New York, and John Sassano, 141, San Francisco, drew (10).

Chains Give Preference To Series Tilt Saturday.

The chains, as is their custom when baseball and football vie for the same spot at the microphone, are giving precedence to the world series on Saturday.

The series broadcast by WEAF-WJZ-NBC, WABC-CBS and the MBS chain is to open at 1:15 p. m. with these football games following immediately afterward: Southern California vs. Ohio State to WEAF-NBC and the MBS chain; Army vs. Columbia to WJZ-NBC and Kentucky vs. Vanderbilt to WABC-CBS.

Mansfield Printers Pile Up 2897 Pins

Jack Graf of Burghardt Team Leads Individuals In B League With 653 Total.

PRODUCING games of 908, 1027 and 962, the Mansfield Printers counted a 2897 total to hold the scoring spotlight in the Commercial B league at the Meder alleys last night.

Heilman, with a 614, and C. J. Jones, 607, were high for the Printers as they registered a pair of victories over the first place Office Cafe, paced by Vern Jones' 616.

Next high in the team scoring department was the Burghardt Cafe entry, which accumulated games of 931, 1054 and 904 for a 2889 and two wins over the Shelby Cycles, led by Hazelwood's 640, including a 247 game.

The cafe team was led by Jack Graf, who wielded a murderous mineralite for games of 219, 238 and 196 for a 653 total. Stauffer contributed a 622.

The Mansfield Rugs hung up a 2815 total to win two games from the Heilman Grocers. Farrell Hipp led the Rugs with a 269 game and 589 total. Adams led the Ringside Cafe to a 2788 total with a 609 score, with J. Dunn following with a 609. The Cafe, however, dropped two games to the Kochheiser Sports.

The Satterlee Restaurant five jumped back into second place by sweeping its series with Yuncker Sports, while Ohio Public Service won two from the Met's Auto Supplies

Roll Record Scores In School League.

POUNDING out a 468 total with a string climaxed with a 176 game, Swartz of the Tygers set a new season individual scoring record in the Senior high league at the Meder alleys yesterday. Swartz led the Tygers to the high team total of 1538.

Kutschall of the Cubs walloped out a record 181 game as he rolled up a 459 total, which Nelson of the All-Stars tied.

Dean's Hero To Writers Despite Loss

By EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Yankees won the ball game, but long after the score lies buried and forgotten in the record books they'll still be talking about the guy who lost, yet won —Dizzy Dean.

DIZZY DEAN

In the lengthening shadows yesterday afternoon at Wrigley field, 'ol Diz trudged off the mound and slowly disappeared into the Cub dugout It was the ninth inning and the score was 6 to 3 in favor of New York. In the box score, Dizzy was the losing pitcher. But to Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs and thousands of fans he was the winner of respect they'll hold for him many years after he finally hangs up his glove.

The reaction of the hundreds of baseball writers to Dean's defeat was high tribute to the big-hearted hurler with the sore and tired arm. As special buses carried the writers to hotels and trains, scores of arguments developed over whether Dean's losing was a "better story" than if he had won. Almost all agreed that had Diz won they would have had the opportunity of writing one of the greatest sports stories of the age.

Tomorrow Clay Bryant, tall righthanded fastballer, goes for the Cubs, with Monte Pearson likely to chuck for the cocky Yanks Bryant bagged 19 games this season while losing 11. Pearson's record is 16 won and 11 lost.

* * *

The Cub lineup is scheduled to be the same tomorrow as that which battled the Yanks so valiantly yesterday, except for Bryant doing the tossing. Joe Marty, who replaced Phil Cavarretta as clean-up hitter and has "three for four," will continue in right field and again bat fourth.

K-B's Face Eleven Composed Of Ex-College Stars Sunday

EX-COLLEGE PLAYERS will dominate the lineup of the undefeated Huntington, W. Va., semi-pro football aggregation which comes to League park Sunday for a tussle with the Kallmerten & Baer Coals.

Three of the gridmen the Huntington club will bring to Mansfield hail from the University of Kentucky. They are Buddy Davis and 202-pound George Glazier, guards, and Tommy Coleman, a fleet-footed halfback.

Raymond Hayslip, another guard, and Carry Halstead, a 160-pound tackle, are football alumnus of Morris-Harvey college and Forest Underwood, the heaviest man on the club at 220, is a product of Davis-Elkins.

Other ex-collegians who have played an important part in the Huntington club's victorious season are Quarterback Peter Sheridan of West Liberty college End Alfred Polotsky of Carnegie Tech, Center Hale Parker of Marrietta college, Tackle Carroll Coleman of the University of Tennessee and Guard William Deeting of Marshall college.

Virtually all of these gridmen have been out of school several years, and have been members of the Huntington club since their graduation.

Works K-B's Hard

Huntington stacks up as the toughest club the Kallmerten & Baer eleven has faced this year, and Coach Gip Miller's men are working hard this week to prepare against a repetition of what occurred the last two weeks.

Miller expects to send a stronger lineup into the fray Sunday, and he believes the Coals are due to break out with a victory, although he realizes the visitors are tough.

NEWARK TAKES 3-2 LEAD IN 'LITTLE WORLD SERIES'

KANSAS CITY—(U.P.)—The Newark Bears needed only one more victory today to retain the minor league baseball championship. The Bears took a 3-2 lead in the "little world series" when they defeated their Kansas City "farm cousins" 6-1 here last night. Joe Beggs scored his second victory in the best-of-seven series by holding the Blues to eight well distributed hits.

THEATER

AFTER an absence of 29 years Harry Carey is returning to Broadway. The character star has an offer to take part in a stage play in New York and he has accepted it with no misgivings. Carey has grown up with the movies, coming to the film city in 1909 when pictures were made on the back lots at the end of Vine street and for many years he was a leading Western drama player. In the last few years he has branched out as a general character actor.

Stage Show Booked.

Milt Brittin and his famous orchestra, or his "wrecking crew" as it is frequently called, will parade their music and their wild antics on the Madison stage tomorrow afternoon and night. Britton's aggregation plays even better than it busts up the furniture and settings, and he carries with him talented dancers and vocalists. He has appeared with the Ziegfeld Follies, Rudy Vallee in "Sweet Music" and more recently with the Billy Rose show. The stage show is augmented with a picture, "Vacation From Love," with Dennis O'Keefe and Florence Rice.

Another Ohio Player.

John Howard, who plays a major role in "Touchdown, Army," is a son of Western Reserve university of Cleveland, and while working on his current picture, he made a long distance telephone address to students and alumni when ground was broken for the university's new theater. Howard plays a college football hero opposite Mary Carlisle and Robert Cummings in the film at the Ohio.

Dirty Work Afoot.

When cars loaded with cattle disappear from the railroad siding in broad daylight, there's dirty work afoot, and Buck Jones sets out to learn what, who and why, in "Stranger From Arizona," a western action film at the Majestic today and Saturday. A human interest drama revolving around a small, bad boy and a newspaper reporter who sets out to reform him is told in "Tenth Avenue Kid."

Lew Ayers Featured.

Eric Remarque's brilliant story of the transformation of a sensitive German school boy into a tortured killer of the trenches is pictured in "All Quiet on the Western Front" which is being shown at the Park theater. Lew Ayers plays the young German soldier of the World war. An Edward Everett Horton comedy, "The Private Secretary," is also shown.

areas to Germany and Poland and would become a perponderantly agrarian country.

Germany is the only nation which could buy farm products of the new little state, they said.

Some Nazis expected either Rudolf Beran or former Premier Miland Hodza—both members of the Czechoslovak Agrarian republic party, Slovaks and acceptable to Germany—to become Czechoslovakia's next president in succession to Eduard Benes, who resigned Wednesday.

With a pro-German president, the Nazis said, the way would be clear for a close relationship between the two countries.

These optimistic views developed from progress of an international commission now working here to determine the remaining preponderantly German territory of Czechoslovakia to be occupied by German soldiers before Sunday.

This area, with four zones granted Germany outright under the four power Munich accord of last week, would give Germany about 5,000 square miles.

German and Czechoslovak sources indicated the issue of Sudetenland areas with mixed populations might be settled without the plebiscite provided for in the Munich agreement.

Nazi sources believed Czechoslovakia would have no choice but to form what in due time would become a customs union with Germany.

Italy Forms Rules For Racial Program.

(By United Press)

Fascist Italy today formulated a broad racial program affecting 70,000 Jews and banning marriage between Italians and non-Aryans.

The regulations, announced by the Fascist grand council, were even more drastic than expected, inasmuch as they applied to gentiles as well as Jews.

In the future, marriages between Italians and non-Aryans will be banned, government employes will be forbidden to marry any foreigners, marriages between Italians and even Aryan non-Italians must be approved by the government in advance.

The council also defined a Jew as a person both of whose parents were Jews, or born of a Jewish father and a foreign mother, or born of a mixed marriage and professing the Hebrew religion. Various exceptions, particularly for children of war heroes, were made.

The action of the Fascist grand council, coincides with a new and graver state of warfare among Jews and Arabs in Palestine, momentarily overshadowed the final phases of settlement of the Czechoslovakia crisis.

Britain Takes Up Peace In Spain.

LONDON—(INS)—With Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's foreign policy, including the Munich accord for dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, upheld by a 366 to 144 vote in the house of commons, official London turned its attention to Spain today.

International News Service learned that opposition has developed in the cabinet to terms for a Spanish peace which might be considered "too easy" for the Premier Mussolini.

This opposition is said to be coming from Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, and other conservative cabinet members who agreed reluctantly to the four-power accord.

Prague Surrenders More Territory.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia—(U.P.)—Czechoslovakia will accept perforce a decision of the international Sudtenland commission granting new concessions to Germany at Czechoslovakia's expense, it was understood today.

A statement published in the newspaper Tagblatt was believed to represent the government view. It said that the government accepts the decision, covering the new occupation Zone No. 5 as inevitable, but that it does so against its will. The statement added bitterly:

"Against the decision of the Berlin commission regarding occupation there remains nothing for us to do other than accept this interpretation of the Munich agreement, as it is an accomplished fact against which there is no appeal."

The government sought to prepare the people for the shock of learning that Great Britain and France had agreed to give Germany new territory.

Chosen 'Queen'

ASHLAND—Reigning over the annual Homecoming festivities at Ashland college on Saturday, Oct. 15, will be brown-haired Dorothy Michael of Lorain, above, sophomore co-ed, who was elected by the college football squad as their Homecoming Queen.

For her attendants at the coronation of the queen preceding the football game with Ohio Northern university in the afternoon, Miss Michael has chosen Miss Rebecca Robinson of Canton, sophomore at the college and Miss Inez Deardorff of Ashland, junior co-ed.

Being chosen for beauty and popularity isn't a new experience for Queen Dorothy for she was named prettiest girl in Amherst high school while she was a senior there.

An active student at Ashland college, the new Queen is secretary of Potential Pedagogues, an organization for education students in their second year of school and is a member of the Y. W. C. A. She plans to enter the elementary teaching field.

Hobbies enjoyed by the new Homecoming Queen are swimming, playing the piano and guitar. Miss Michael is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Michael of Leavitte road, Lorain.

Sawyer said, "I will make it my business to tackle the school problem at once and see that the state assures the school districts that they can continue to support a sound educational program for Ohio boys and girls."

Speaking at a fifth district Republican rally at Defiance, Bricker asserted last night:

"The time has come to tell Washington to keep its nose out of Ohio. Voters have sense enough to choose their own officials without outside help. Voters in Ohio should sign a new declaration of independence."

Bricker said he referred to a charge of maladministration in the Ohio pensions system made by the federal Social Security board shortly before the August primary, and he again called it a "political trick" to aid the battle Sawyer was waging against Gov. Martin L. Davey.

YANKS PUT CUBS IN 'MOURNING'

'Coronation' Becomes 'Wake' as New York Sluggers Get to Dizzy Dean.

ager Joe McCarthy. "For seven innings he made my gang look bad. Mighty bad. And then those two spaghetti eaters got after him and broke up the party."

And that very same heart is liable to insure Dean a job with the Cubs for some time to come. You can discount the $185,000 cash and extras they paid for him. Ball club owners aren't the kind to be pouring out more money just for the exercise.

The Cubs honestly believe Dizzy Dean's once-great throwing arm is coming back. They hope a winter's rest will do it. Not that he was so phooey yesterday. Seven hits in eight innings against the Yanks is something most any pitcher would love to have chalked against him.

But one and sundry could see he was laboring to get the ball over. He was putting them across with his head and his heart, mostly. As he said to the gang in the clubhouse after it was over:

"I just throwed myself out, boys."

Gabby Hartnett, refusing to even consider eventual defeat in the series, turned his way:

"It was a great job, Diz. Even with a bad arm, you still did your best. I couldn't ask for more."

To assembled newswriters, Gabby said from the side of his Irish mug:

"What that guy couldn't do with a good arm. I sure hope he comes back by next season. Boy, then watch us."

Dean, alost choking over "the toughest game I ever lost," said he felt all right up until the seventh when his arm began to lay with a shooting pain through the shoulder.

"I put the question to both of them in black and white under cross-examination," Fulton testified. "Something crooked is going on here, I told them. I said I knew someone was being paid protection."

Douglas testified that on one occasion in the spring of 1937 he confiscated two slot machines and less than 12 hours later saw a "slots" operator remove them from the Lorain county jail while Smith looked on.

DEEP AFFECTION TIES ELIZABETH TO QUEEN MARY

High Circles Deny Discord in Great Britain's Royal Family Members.

(By United Press)

LONDON—(U.P.)—The deep affection between Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary precludes any reference in court circles to the possibility of mother - in - law trouble.

In fact, Elizabeth is the Queen-Mother's favorite daughter - in - law, the girl she would have picked for her second son and the type of woman she would have liked the Duke of Windsor to marry, high circles say.

Elizabeth is well aware that she owes a great deal to Queen Mary since she ascended the throne, and the British court today is a happy, peaceful home.

Reports published abroad that the two queens do not agree over the education of the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret, and about the management of Buckingham palace are flatly and emphatically denied by all quarters in which such a delicate question could be broached.

Rumors Denied.

Among the rumors which are denied specifically by sources close to the palace are the following:

1. That Queen Mary did not go to Balmoral with the king and queen either for last year's summer vacation or this because Elizabeth would not let her ride in the royal automobile.

Palace sources pointed out that the chief reason Queen Mary did not go was because there is insufficient room at Balmoral for her suite. Another reason was that Queen Mary wanted a restful vacation on her own. A third reason was that Queen Mary preferred to spend her vacation at her beloved Sandringham House, Norfolk, joining the king and queen in Scotland towards the end of their vacation.

2. That Queen Elizabeth has copied Queen Mary's usual salute to the crowds, and wishes that Mary would not use it any more.

It is true that Elizabeth has altered her salute somewhat since she became Queen, but, it is learned, it was Queen Mary who gave her the hint that a simple wave of the hand was less tiring than Elizabeth's customary backhand flutter.

Other rumors were that Elizabeth was trying to out-do her mother-in-law in the matter of hats, and that Queen Mary had her hand kissed too often to please Elizabeth.

Both reports were ridiculed by palace sources which gave the following explanation of the probable reason for them.

When Edward VIII abdicated and George and Elizabeth came to the throne they were almost totally unprepared for the duties before them.

It was Edward who had been educated all his life for the role of kingship, and there were innumerable things, small and large, which George and Elizabeth had to learn quickly.

CONVICT SHIP ON EXHIBITION

Oldest Vessel Afloat, Built In 1790, Docked at Sandusky.

A grim reminder of the days when men were sent to prison for nothing more serious than the theft of a two-pence worth of linen can be seen at the foot of Jackson street in Sandusky where the British convict ship "Success" is now berthed for exhibition.

Built in 1790, her owners call her the oldest ship afloat. She began her career as a convict ship in 1802 when the British government chartered her to transport convicts to Australia. She sailed until 1851 and in 1885 was scuttled.

After five years she was raised and since then more than 20,000,000 persons have visited her. In 1912 she crossed the Atlantic under sail, taking 96 days for the passage.

In 1787 it took 19 persons living on farms to produce enough for themselves and one person in town, but now the same number on farms can provide for themselves and 66 persons in town.

CASH FOR ECONOMY

Many "golden" opportunities are lost for lack of a little ready "gold" to take advantage of them.

That's why when you see an exceptional bargain or a chance to make a profitable investment—it's your ability to pay "cash on the line" that often closes the deal in your favor. City Loan financing assures you of ready cash on convenient terms you can easily handle.

Refer to Good Housekeeping, Sept. issue. Article, "Money in a Hurry."

RAILS ATTRACT ATTENTION IN EARLY TRADING

Leaders Favored as Business News Continues Principal Market Stimulant.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks still were in favor today, but the market lacked the steam of the preceding session and further profit taking tended to restrict most gains to fractions.

Rails were among the best performers, with attention centered on Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific.

Business news continued as the principle market stimulant, brokers said. Foreign affairs were thought to have exerted little influence on trends. European markets were about steady. Bonds were quiet and commodities a shade mixed.

NLRB GETS NEW CRITICISM FROM A.F. OF L. PARLEY

Labor Attorney in New Blast at 'Favoritism Rule' Given CIO Unions.

HOUSTON, Tex. — Joseph A. Padway, chief counsel of the American Federation of Labor, today attacked the national labor relations board and warned that it must reverse decisions guided by the "rule of favoritism" to the CIO or "congress will do so."

He accused the board of "brazenly perverting the spirit and intent" of the Wagner act under which it was created and said that the federation will demand that the law be amended in the coming congress to prevent attempts by the CIO to "destroy our unions."

Padway directed his fire at Edwin S. Smith and Donald Wakefield Smith, charging that in the board's decision involving A. F. of L. and CIO attempts to unionize the Serrick corporation, Muncie, Ind., the pair was guilty of "an unlawful exercise of discretion and an abuse of it."

"But the NLRB has not heard the end of that decision," he said. "It will have repercussions in and out of court. Either the NLRB will reverse the principle of that decision, or the courts of congress will do so. We insist that that decision must not stand."

One of Several Decisions.

The Serrick decision was one of several in which the board has invalidated contracts entered into between A. F. of L. unions and employers and thereafter designated a CIO affiliate as the bargaining unit for the workers, skilled and unskilled.

"Not only is this an unlawful and unjust invasion of the rights and integrity of our unions but it is a concrete example of government interference by bureaucratic decrees with the right of labor organizations to govern their own affairs," Padway declared.

"It is the rule of favoritism. I say to you that after a critical examination of these decisions, and knowing the attitude of the board, that they were rendered to aid and assist he CIO."

The board's decision in the Aeolian American corporation case was described as "incomprehensible," and those who wrote it, Padway said, perpetrated a "ghastly joke on the board." He attacked the board's dismissal of charges that coal operators of "bloody" Harlan county, Ky., had violated the Wagner act after John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America had negotiated a contract with the operators.

Padway's attack on Edwin Smith was exceptionally harsh He accused him of "stepping down from the role of judge, in which capacity he is supposed to act, and becoming a proponent of the CIO."

He criticized the decision of the U. S. circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia in granting an injunction to an employer preventing picketing on the basis that there is no longer dispute when an employer asserts his willingness to bargain with a union certified by the NLRB.

Mayor Killed? He Wasn't And Who Started This Fuss?

Mansfield police yesterday were besieged by a deluge of telephone calls inquiring "where was the mayor killed and how did it happen?"

A hurried check with Mayor Claude M. Hunter's secretary after the first call disclosed the fact that the mayor had not been killed.

No one knows where the erroneous report started but it spread like wildfire The News-Journal telephone operator was busy all afternoon assuring anxious callers that the mayor was safe and sound

Today Hunter was greeting friends as usual and got quite a laugh out of the incident which was carried to him as he was participating in a safety demonstration on Millsborough road at 4 p m

The mayor said he wasn t killed but that he'd taken quite a chance when he rode in a car at 78 miles an hour while dynamite was used to blow out a tire and to his surprise 'there wasn't even a slight wavering of the machine at that speed"

JOINS IN MOVE TO RETAIN CCC

C. of C. Protests Plan to Close Camp Mohican Near Loudonville.

The Mansfield Chamber of Commerce today had joined forces with Loudonville and Ashland in an attempt to retain the Mohican CCC camp for this district, a movement started last week by the two Ashland county towns

Paul W. Williams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, today sent protests to Senator Robert L. Bulkley and Congressman William A Ashbrook, and issued an appeal to Mansfielders to get behind the movement by sending letters or telegrams of protest to the two men.

It was announced recently that the CCC camp would be moved to the Hocking Valley, near Nelsonville in the southern part of the state. Loudonville and Ashland citizens immediately opposed the proposed change, and the United States Forestry department promised to delay the action for a number of weeks

The CCC workers have beautified Mohican park until it is one of the outstanding ones in the state Williams pointed out that the camp has a definite commercial value to this vicinity, since tourists from other states are beginning to make Mohican park a stopping place on their itineraries

He also pointed out the value of having a CCC camp in the vicinity in case of any kind of disaster. In his telegrams to Bulkley and Ashbrook, Williams said that more than 150,000 persons in the immediate vicinity of the park would be affected by the move while there took part in nine major encounters, winning a Croix de Guerre.

He soared to literary fame with his first novel, "Green Bay Tree," which supposedly had Mansfield for a locale, as did several of his later novels. His "Early Autumn" won the Pulitzer prize for the best fiction work of the year early in this decade.

His latest book, "The Rains Came," has been in the best seller class for more than a year, and will be produced on a large scale as a motion picture. A new Bromfield story is a current serial in Cosmopolitan magazine, and like many of his books, has the "Mansfield flavor" Few of his books have been without some sort of reference to his boyhood home in the disposal manner "early next week."

He has been in Mansfield only once since his rise to fame and that was about eight years ago when he appeared at Senior high school auditorium as a speaker.

SEEKS DATA ON MILK DUMPING

Mayor to Ask Dairy Operators to End Practice Menacing Sewage Treatment.

He said that he was "deeply concerned" about the inefficient operation of the plant and intended to take all possible means to have the cause removed.

Collier yesterday wrote Hunter concerning conditions which have been experienced at the plant in recent months and laid the chief cause to the dumping of approximately 800 gallons of milk wastes into the sewers.

Collier asked the mayor to seek the co-operation of the dairies in disposing of the milk through other outlets rather than the sewer system and pointed out that "until such time as they are eliminated, the stability of the treatment process will be jeopardized."

He explained that the milk waste load usually arrived at the plant about noon and continued to flow for about an hour.

Hesaid the magnitude of the condition was such that the oxygen required to treat the daily overload would treat the average sewage of about 2,500 people.

Railroads Are Waning Industry, Wage Protest Commission Told

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A hard-bitten railroad executive who rose from a telegraph operator to become president of the Southern railway bluntly told President Roosevelt's fact finding board today that the carriers are going into "the red so fast that it looks like we've been having a constant hemorrhage."

The witness Ernest E. Norris, rattling out his testimony like a machine gun, made no bones about the critical financial plight of the $26,000,000,000 industry

"We are not a coming industry," he declared. "We are a waning industry—and I say that unblushingly.

"You have heard the sad record read to you. When the other forms of transportation were only the horse and wagon, perhaps in a foot of mud, then possibly the railroads had a monopoly. Unfortunately today we are treated as a monopoly which is exactly what we are not."

To the board, charged with evolving a possible compromise settlement in the current dispute between management and 900,000 rail workers over an ordered 15 per cent pay cut, Norris stated that "this wage reduction is an exceedingly practical proposition."

It is a matter of "where we are going to get the money," he emphasized.

Norris clashed bitterly and frequently with labor attorneys when they cross examined him. Tom Davis, one of the labor counsel, sought by lengthy questioning to draw from Norris an admission that railroads believe that wages should be based on ability to pay.

Willow King Dow, 37, Mifflin, lacerations on the left ear.

Rhoads is in Good Samaritan hospital at Ashland. The others, less seriously hurt, were treated by physicians.

Rhoads was a passenger in a car driven by Laws which collided head-on with another operated by Glenn Ewing of Jeromesville about 7:30 p. m. on route 60 south of Hayesville. The head-on crash occurred after Laws car had sideswiped a machine driven by Homer Bush, R. D. 2, Ashland.

In the other crash, Mundy's car sideswiped a machine driven by Roy Greenbank, 22, of Sullivan, at 10.45 p m. on route 60 near Loudonville. Mrs. Dow was riding with Mundy. Also in the car was Elmer Harman. Fairview hotel, who was not hurt. They were enroute to the Loudonville fair. State Highway Patrolman L. D. Alexander investigated the accidents.

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

CHAPTER 13.

"WHOEVER thought that Mary would leave Craig so soon?"

The words that Marjorie had just said stayed in the air, waiting for Judy to take them down, to accept them.

Before she could do so, Marjorie hurried on.

"I forgot, Judy darling. You don't know anything about it. Craig sort of turned the town upside down hunting for you, and Mary read the signs wrong. She couldn't grasp that he was doing what anyone of us would do for someone special. She she walked out."

"But she mustn't do that! Craig married her," Judy said thoughtfully.

"Of course he did, and even with our background, Judy, we usually give a marriage months."

"Marjorie, I'll never marry. Never! It doesn't work." She said it with vehemence.

"You've always said that," Marjorie told her. "Maybe you are wise."

"No, she isn't," Ronald's voice interrupted as he returned from his ambulations on the terrace. "There's a moon hanging up in the sky tonight that is calculated to make any girl change her mind."

"That's the trouble," Judy said quickly. "Moons give people mad moments. Their temperature speeds up, their hearts jump hoops—and suddenly it's daylight. No, marriage is about as solid as cellophane or tissue paper. It's not on my schedule."

"It's because you haven't been proposed to by the right man," suggested Ronald. "I know a mighty pleasing proposal—"

"Save it for a more appreciative audience," Marjorie volunteered, laughing. "How about some mugs of hot chocolate? I collected the mugs in Holland and I take every opportunity to use them. We'll have toasted cheese sandwiches, too, and toast with honey butter."

It was intimate and warm and friendly by the open wood fire in the den at the Bartons' apartment. For a little while Judy forgot the brass bed that waited for her in the hotel downtown. She didn't think of the window that stuck, and the hot water that often was a trickle. She almost believed that she would be going up town two blocks to her own father's penthouse, slipping into bed between silken sheets, with the cool wind blowing the white ruffled curtains at the long windows.

For a little while Ronald was just any attractive young man whom she had met, liked, accepted as a member of her circle.

It was he who brought the evening to a close. "Come on, Judy. You must hunt for a job tomorrow."

"Of course. But maybe I won't hunt. Maybe I'll give up. I don't like poverty." She said it slowly, eyes on the blue-red flames.

"I didn't like it, either, but it can be overcome," the red-headed attorney told her solemnly. "We're off, Judy."

"I'm picking you up for tea about 5 tomorrow," Marjorie announced. "I want you to meet Mary Banner. You are the only one who can help her."

"How?" Judy would have said she was the last one who could help the girl.

"By letting her see that you and Craig aren't sending out silent S. O. S.'s. She has a notion you are."

What if we are, Marjorie? Judy asked silently. What can I do about it? I loved him long before she met him. He loved me, too. But I was so blind. Love doesn't last. Maybe it's better for Mary to find it out quickly.

Aloud she said: "Of course I'd like to meet Mary. I wanted to wait awhile, until I'm prosperous, but tomorrow is as good as any day."

Meeting Mary would help her to understand Craig's change of heart much better, she thought.

So, the next afternoon when Marjorie came for her, she was ready. She had put on a green frock whose lines breathed allure and expense, and a scrap of green felt made a hat for her bright brown hair. Her jacket, gloves, slippers and bag were brown.

She grimaced at herself in the mirror as she waited for the elevator. She still looked like something with a Park Avenue address. She had clothes, clothes, clothes. Nothing else.

"We are meeting Mary at an out of the way place," Marjorie explained. "If a columnist got wind of the trio we are making, he would use it to inform the public. You'll like her. She's quiet and sweet and appealing."

Judy did like Mary Banner Denby. She was slim, not very tall, and her eyes and hair were almost black. Her smile was wide and eager and a little baffled, as though she was half frightened of this new world that she had entered.

Judy mentioned that she had heard Mary singing the night before.

"Did you like it?" the girl asked quickly.

"Very much. You made me want to cry."

"I'm sorry. But people like to cry, don't they? Or maybe they can't help it."

It was Mary herself who brought Craig's name into the conversation.

"You're an old friend of his Miss Rogers. You know how special he is. I never have known anyone quite so fine."

"He's a dear," Marjorie supplied, "He and Judy and I have skated and swum and danced together for years."

Not one word was said about the fact that Mary had left Craig

Gradually Judy realized that Marjorie had received the news from Craig, not Mary. She was saying nothing, waiting for him to act.

When they had dropped Mary at the address she gave them, Judy spoke slowly: "She didn't connive to make Craig propose. And she adores him. What happened, Marjorie?"

Marjorie was a straight forward person. She came to the point at once.

"It's you, my innocent lamb. If you will let Craig behold you, so Mary will know you aren't a disturbing host in his life, and Craig can see that you are getting the right amount of vitamines and drinking plenty of orange juice and milk, he won't worry about you. Then Mary will understand that she made a good-sized rocky out of a sand pile."

Judy did not want to see Craig She desperately wanted him to make a go of his marriage. She herself was entirely out of his life She might catch her breath at the sight of broad shoulders in a crowd that held a reminiscent swing, or the low laugh of a man on a subway train. But they were reminders of something that was quite, quite gone. She could cry a little now and then, but not he or anyone else would ever know it.

"I don't want to see Craig," she answered, "but suppose I telephone to him. Where is he staying?"

"At his club. How about letting him drop in tonight? You'll stay until morning, won't you?"

"Marjorie, you're a darling! The hot water at the hotel was turned off at noon because a pipe broke. I was dreading an icy shower. Of course I'll stay."

But she refused to see Craig. She could grapple with memories. She could defeat ghosts. But reality—

Instead she telephoned to him.

"Craig?"

"Judy! Where are you?" No, there was no healing for the crack in her heart, she whispered, as his voice came singing over the wire.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1938.

Any "plan" that promises something for nothing is sure to get a lot of followers.

It looks as if social security will also have to be provided for some of the Cub supporters in the world series.

This is National Letter Writing week—but it will take more than a stamp of approval to carry the missive to its destination.

Tells How 'Slots' Were Protected.

SUCH cases as that being tried in Elyria this week, in which the Lorain county sheriff testified that he received "about $3,000" for protecting operators of slot machines in that county, tend to destroy confidence in men chosen to fill public positions which involve responsibility for impartial enforcement of laws.

In this case five slot machine operators are on trial for bribery. The sheriff, William F. Grall, former Democratic mayor of Lorain, had been granted immunity from prosecution for his testimony before the grand jury that returned indictments against the alleged bribe-givers.

Grall told of an arrangement for parcelling out territory to various slot machine operators, who were to pay $2.50 a week, per machine, for protection, and of the three-way split of the bribe money between a collector, the sheriff and a former deputy.

"Was there anything in your oath of office to permit such an extortion arrangement?" the sheriff was asked on cross examination.

"No," the official replied, "it was wrong. We had no right to take that money."

It is a sad commentary on present-day conditions that so many instances come to light in which men who have been honored by election to important public offices show lack of the stability of character that would make it possible to resist temptations to get "easy money" by connivance with crooks.

Wherever there are slot machines in operation, known places of commercialized gambling, bookie joints accorded preferential treatment, or other outside-the-law activities of which there is general knowledge but which are ignored by city and county law enforcement agencies, there is basis for the quite prevalent suspicion that somebody is getting a "rakeoff" out of it.

A law-violating officialdom is not conducive to a law-respecting citizenship.

Loudonville and Its Street Fair.

WHATEVER may eventually be the fate of other "street fairs," Loudonville's outstanding community event seems destined to "go on forever."

Few can remember back to the time when "the Loudonville street fair" wasn't looked forward to with pleasurable anticipation all through this part of Ohio, or when it wasn't held up as a model for other towns and villages to pattern after.

This week marks Loudonville's fiftieth annual street fair, and the daily crowds of 10,000 or more that packed the streets of this progressive Ashland county town were "not unusual," for Loudonville has long been accustomed to big crowds at its street fair.

With a history running back almost 125 years, Loudonville—with a present population somewhat above 2,000, has found satisfaction and contentment in remaining a nicely balanced agricultural and industrial community, of such size that everyone can know everyone else and where life moves more quietly than in more populous cities.

With good schools, adequate church accommodations, an attractive park, picturesque surroundings and an environment conducive to good citizenship, Loudonville has many reasons for satisfaction—aside from the assured success of its annual street fair.

Murder by Motor Car.

MURDER by motor car is on the decline, according to the National Safety council. Traffic accident fatalities for the past nine months have registered a steady decline. This decline has taken place in the face of a slight increase in mileage figures.

All of which seems to indicate that the speed-crazed mass of 40,000,000 drivers, known as "the motoring public," is slowly awakening to a new found responsibility—safe driving. Possibly the average driver is discovering that the modern high speed automobile can be a vehicle of horrible death as well as of comfort and convenience. If so, a great stride is being made toward the day when once again the family car can be taken out for a week-end holiday with reasonable assurance that all will return intact.

Sooner or later the motoring public will have to get the fact through its head that the present slaughter on highways is criminally needless. As was recently pointed out by the New York Times, "it will have to learn that murder by motor car—although it may not lead to the chair—is still murder and that it is the part of good morals, good sportsmanship and good citizenship to drive and walk safely."

Chemical Agriculture.

CHEMISTS, according to Dr. Bernard R. Nebel of the New York state agricultural experiment station, are now taking colchicine, a drug obtained from the seeds and bulbs of the autumn crocus, and working wonders with it. They have developed plant races different in shape and physiology from anything ever seen before on this planet. They have also made previously sterile hybrid plants fertile. They have improved and altered other plants, achieving a lemon-flavored spearmint, larger fruits, deeper colored flowers, and so on.

All this, Dr. Nebel implies, is merely a beginning. "Of all drugs tested so far, in the search for methods for gaining influence over the gene carriers, colchicine is by far the most useful. If used for the purpose for which it is fitted, it alone will revolutionize certain phases of plant breeding with due time and care."

So there is much more to come. Such changes, we now know, affect profoundly our whole society, creating new systems of agriculture, industry and economics.

An English jockey has modeled a race horse in butter—and it should run well in the first heat.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — By actual measurement the "war zone" occupies only about 10 per cent of Washington. During the past tense days, however, it has been almost impossible to remember that the other 90 per cent of the government has something to do, too.

For instance, in the very hour that President Roosevelt appealed to Hitler to keep his finger off the trigger, the bureau of public health came out with an engaging study designed to prove—as far as limited tests could—that alcoholics are not especially subject to suggestion.

It has been believed a long time that chronic drunks were easy victims of suggestion. Not so, says the bureau, at least during their sober intervals. (Darn it, they didn't test 'em while they were high.) The bureau tested 100 hospital attendants who were not alcoholics, and then tested 46 patients committed for chronic alcoholism. They all came out the same, no difference between the groups.

It was the famous "sway" test. The subject, blindfolded, is told he is "falling, falling forward, falling forward, feel the weight shift from your heels to your toes." But the alcoholics were as much inclined to say "phooey" as the teetotalers.

That Roundup In the Sky.

THE department of the interior found airplanes good not for bombing but for rounding up 500 wild horses on the desert ranges of southeastern Oregon. The horses, mostly useless wasters of cattle range, are canned for dog meat or shipped to Europeans who find a good horse steak not so bad.

* * *

From the Department of Agriculture we learn that Europeans, though tempted to reach for a rifle, have reached for a cigaret instead. "Consumption of tobacco prducts," solemnly reports the department, "has continued to expand in most European countries in recent months in spite of a general decline in business activity. The increase has been accompanied by a shift to cigarets."

* * *

The same departmental handout reprints an editorial from the North American Veterinarian suggesting that veterinarians should be required to take a one-year internship, the way physicians do in regular hospitals. Imagine a veterinary interne patting the cheek of the pretty little blond horse-nurse.

Affectionate Fox Foundlings.

WHILE talk of death and disaster were on all hands, the rangers in Sequoia national park found a dead female fox and immediately set about hunting for her young. They found them, too, and each took one of the five youngsters home to raise on a bottle. "One, a female, seems at times as affectionate as a puppy dog would be, pretending to bite her human playfellows, but so gently that it is unmistakable that no harm is intended."

* * *

Hurried and agitated as were state department staffers, the plodding elevators in the buttery old building refused to hasten. "The late Elihu Root, on the way to the second floor, stopped one of these elevators," relates Senator J. Ham Lewis of Illinois.

"Going up?" asks Root.

"Yes," replies the operator.

"On what day will you arrive?" asks Root.

And so to bed, with the town still wondering what an air bomb would do if it hit the Washington monument.

LOW BRIDGE!

Claim Benefits In 30-Hour Week

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Every indication is that the fight for the thirty-hour week is going to be closer in the coming session of congress than ever before, with the distinct possibility, though not probability, that it will be enacted.

When the proposal was first made by the then senator—now justice—Hugo L. Black, it was regarded as fantastic. There was loud clamor from business that it was impossible, that it simply could not be worked, and that it would wreck returning prosperity. Sentiment for the idea was obviously greater in the last session of congress, but its supporters realized that it did not have any possibility of mustering a majority vote, and hence it was not seriously pressed.

But the situation has changed. Curiously enough, while in all the "purge" contests, save that in the 16th New York district, the more conservative candidate won, this more radical proposal is now obviously going to be stronger in the next congress than the one that is expiring.

MOST important in bringing about this change of sentiment is the continuance of the unemployment problem—the fact that it is increasing. So that a definite proposal to remedy the situation forces attention, especially when no one is proposing anything which sounds more sound economically. Not that there is general opinion that the thirty-hour week IS sound, economically. Quite the contrary. But its friends are fond of remarking that it is a situation which confronts us, not a theory, and that something MUST be done.

The only alternative that has been suggested, incidentally, is still more government spending. Nobody likes this very much except a comparatively small minority who agree wholeheartedly with Harry L. Hopkins, and who worry no more about the mounting federal debt than Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board.

Not only that, but not even the most fanatical Hopkins follower believes that if government spending were doubled ALL unemployment would be eliminated. The problem would still be present.

SECOND in importance in the elements bringing about a stronger sentiment for the thirty-hour week is the able fight already begun for it by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. It must be recalled that Green's prestige and influence on Capitol Hill have been boosted almost beyond exaggeration since the last meeting of congress.

Green's record of primary victories is extraordinary. His only bad defeat was when he fought Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland. Actually Green fought for Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, and for Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina. He was on the side of ever so many Democrats marked for defeat by the New Deal, and incidentally by John L. Lewis's CIO.

Green now insists that the six-hour day and five-day week is the only way to pass the work around. It is pointed out that if more people are thus employed the federal burden of relief would be lightened. Of course it is obvious that if his proposal wins and the same wages are paid for the thirty-hour week that are now paid for a week one-third longer in work hours, prices would have to be raised. It would result in a mild form of inflation. The worker's dollar would buny less. But if nearly everybody had work, it is contended this might not be an unmixed evil.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Lets Remember This Maine!

By WALTER E. SPAHR
Professor of Economics, New York University.

The economists' knowledge as to how far a nation can go in the direction of social insurance, without wrecking the economic structure and in order to bring about the most wholesome conditions possible in a nation, is far from precise.

Nevertheless, experience has taught that there are decided limits beyond which social insurance cannot go.

In all probability the best social insurance devices can in the end alleviate only a small proportion of the uncertainties of life, unless we are willing to be wards of the state and to go in for thorough Socialism or Communism.

Freedom from such socialism entails personal responsibilities and risks. These facts cannot be avoided, and we must make up our minds as to which we will have. And on that point let it be said that throughout the ages men have been fighting for freedom. They have, in general, preferred freedom and its risks and responsibilities above safety and security when attainment of the latter has involved the loss of liberty. It is difficult to believe that mankind can make much progress under Communism or Socialism, or that such social arrangements can last for any great length of time.

If these observations be accurate, and if we value freedom, we must be prepared to assume its risks and responsibilities while we enjoy its benefits. This means that we must be worthy of our freedom. We must anticipate the uncertainties of life and prepare for them as best we can. We must be reasonably thrifty, and when hard luck befalls us, we must tighten our belts and dig in harder than ever at anything that we can find to do or devise.

We are not doing that today. We have been looking for an easy, painless way out. We have grown soft, we have become a nation of whiners. Self-reliance seems to have disappeared. Instead, we want to rely upon others. And, if others have more than we have, we have no hesitation in claiming that they should share with us. Men used to die before they would ask for another's share, but now we spend our time devising ways to get the other man's goods. We want to work less, we quarrel constantly about our pay, we want to grab and to live like parasites.

Unless we turn about in our tracks and get a grip on ourselves, it seems very probable that we are going to find that we have fallen far from those standards against which strong men have been, and still are, measured. We will find ourselves a race of weaklings, eating away our accumulation, worthy only of being despised.

Much of New Dealism has been directly responsible for the spread of this unhealthy and debilitating thinking, and the Townsend and $30 per week movements, and similar schemes, are the natural results.

Some of the most valid criticism of the economics of New Dealism leads straight to this fundamental weakness in our government's approach to these social problems. If Economics means anything at all, this criticism of the current insidious undermining of our social fabric is valid and vitally important.

Republicans, in general, have tried to convey the notion that they are on solid economic ground, or are planning to get on such solid ground, and that from this point of vantage they hope to oust the New Deal and its economic fallacies.

Many people, certainly, have hoped that a party of opposition, the Republicans or some other, would have the good sense to determine what are good economic principles and stick to them—foregoing the cheap politics of the time server and vote-seeking demagogue.

But look at Maine! We see "Republican" Townsendites nominated for Congress! And in Maine of all states—where men were supposed to be hardy, tough, self reliant, and canny. If the sinking of Maine Republicans to the level of Townsendism, which rests either upon economic illiteracy or the cheapest of political demagoguery or both, is a sample of the type of Republicanism, that this country is to get, then the nation must seek elsewhere for an intelligent Opposition.

Maine, like Southern California, has disgraced herself, and has added to the disgrace of the nation.

Wash Your Face, Says Judge.

Said Magistrate Jeanette Brill when Mrs. Rita Sperling, 29, was arraigned before her recently, charged with trying to stab her husband, with threatening a neighbor with a knife and with killing the pet canary:

"The first thing you should do is to go home and wash your face. You have too much dye on your eyebrows. I believe that every woman should make herself look as pretty as she can, but judgment must be exercised in the use of cosmetics. When rouge, lipstick and eyeshade are used without skill they make a woman look cheap. They make her look like a painted cow. Case adjourned . . ."

A Farmer's Diary

The Appleseed Tree.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

A MAN of 85 and I went to visit an orchard that Johnny Appleseed had planted.

"Those are precious landmarks," said my old friend to the man who now owns the farm.

"Yes—I had intended to cut those two down," and he pointed to two large trunks whose tops were mostly dead, "but I didn't, when I found out who had planted them."

"My wife's grandfather came to this country in 1830," mused the old man. "Five years after that they tell how Johnny Appleseed planted his first seeds. That was more'n a hundred years ago."

I walked about those gnarled and twisted trunks, green with age. I saw numerous branches that the "pruning knife of time" had severed; the aged crotches so deeply cleft that the slightest breeze would soon tear them apart; dead branches, bereft of bark, pointing bony fingers skyward. Many roots lay, irregular and lifeless, almost buried in the heavy grass. Time has wrecked those lovely palaces of green.

"John Appleseed came, barefoot and tattered, in the fall of 1835, and planted apple seeds in a clearing and made a fence around it. Two years later he came back and planted a little orchard yonder and all along this bank. After several years more he came again, and that time he grafted one of his seedlings, close to a gate. It bore fruit for years, and they called it 'the Gate apple,'" said the old man.

I felt I stood on holy ground, where once the patron saint of all our orchards worked. This group of trees is now almost a memory, and there are thousands like it over our fair state, but the great soul that roamed these hills, and enjoyed to hear the rippling streams and loved all living creatures, happily is not forgotten. In many city parks and village squares, are monuments to the memory of this great character. The name of Johnny Appleseed is loved. More enduring than tablets of stone, it is written in the hearts of children.

Listen, World!

You Must Stand Alone!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NO MATTER who you are or what you are, there is one great lesson you must learn in life—
YOU MUST LEARN TO STAND ALONE.

It won't be easy for you to learn that lesson. You'll find endless excuses for evading it, and some of the excuses will seem beautiful and noble. But you'll soon find that, no matter how clever the excuse, how beautiful or noble, Life won't accept it.

YOU MUST LEARN TO STAND ALONE

Have you ever watched a baby learning to walk? How timidly the little feet take those first stumbling steps! How closely the tiny fingers cling to any support—the mother's hand, the table edge! And even after the feet have learned their trick, the small hands continue to cling, not daring to trust their own strength.

Babyhood is swiftly passed. But baby ways are not as easily cured. Long after we have learned to walk and run, our minds still reach for help; still cling to some beloved object for comfort and support. All our lives we cling to something. We died clinging.

We cling to THINGS. We are so sure that if we can only catch the THINGS we desire, life will be free and strong and happy. If we can own a nice home, a good car, the right clothes, a tidy sum in the bank—then everything will be jake. Frantically we scramble to achieve this dream.

Then at last we have what we want. But are we satisfied? No. After the first flush of success, back comes the old restlessness and uncertainty, the old discontent. Maybe if we had something more—something better. So we stumble on reaching, clutching, dropping one thing to grab another—wondering why we are never satisfied.

We cling to PEOPLE, too. Surely that can't be wrong! No, it isn't wrong to love. But it's wrong to lean on love—to expect love to sustain us, when we should sustain ourselves. But we won't see this. We pour out our hearts in adoration. Surely, if we love hard enough this precious comfort will stay with us always!

Then the inevitable happens. Those we love insist on leading their own lives, as they should. We clutch at them desperately. We tell them how terribly we need they. They listen impatiently, tenderly, but we see—how bitterly we see!—that their minds are elsewhere. They are thinking of their own work, their own needs, their own ambitions or love affairs.

Or sometimes Death swoops down and breaks the clutch of our desperate, adoring fingers.

So THINGS fail us. And PEOPLE fail us. And at last WE MUST STAND ALONE.

But even then we will not admit that it is right and necessary for us to stand alone. Instead, we set up a great wailing. We cry that life isn't worth while if we haven't the things we want; if we haven't the people we love. We moan that our lives are ruined.

And we grow bitter and angry. We punish the people who won't let us use their lives as leaning posts. We cry out against a system which won't permit us all to be millionaires. We blame everyone but our own selves for our loneliness, our gnawing restlessness, our fear and heart break.

But we're wrong. They're not to blame. Our suffering has come because we ourselves have broken the first, the most important law of life—that law that we MUST STAND ALONE.

Does that mean that we shouldn't love others, work with others, struggle and acquire and achieve? Not at all. It's right to work and love. It's natural to rejoice in love and achievement. But it's wrong to expect people and possessions to do for us those things which we should do for ourselves.

IT'S WRONG FOR US TO EXPECT SOME LOVED ONE, SOME CHERISHED POSSESSION, TO GIVE US THAT PLEASURE AND POWER AND PEACE WHICH WE SHOULD ACHIEVE FOR OURSELVES, WITHIN OUR OWN CHARACTERS.

Do these words seem strange? Think them over. Think about your own life—your struggles, your success, your secret discontent, the grief and resentment you always carry with you. Think how much time and effort you've wasted trying to make THINGS and PEOPLE do for you that which you should have done for yourself.

And what did your struggle accomplish after all? Wouldn't life have been infinitely freer and finer today if you had learned to stand alone, years ago?

ISN'T IT TIME YOU LEARNED TO STAND ALONE NOW?

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In an atmosphere distinctly reminiscent of Joe Cook and the illogical contrivances he used to figure out for the opening of doors, feeding the canary, and other semi-impossible feats, the inventor's show got off to a good start in New York this season.

It was held at a midtown hotel and some 800 inventors were on hand from every part of the country to display their gadgets. One of the items that struck my eye right off was a weird looking contraption fastened to a young lady's leg.

At first glance I thought it must be a new sort of splint for the setting of broken bones, but in a few moments the young lady unstrapped herself and walked away with no sign of pain, and so I made a few discreet inquiries and discovered that the gadget was for cows, not people, and that its purpose was to keep bossie from kicking over the milk pail at milking time.

THE inventor's show continued its clinical aspect with a young man in a sort of horse-collar which I instantly decided must be a new type of brace for a broken neck. But the wearer of it was smoking a cigar and having such an excellent time that I began to suspect that this, like the "splints," was designed for other purposes. It was. This, it appears, is a new gadget for the comfort of those who like to sleep sitting up in chairs.

It holds the chin high and braces against the shoulders, thus eliminating the dangers of a snapped neck if the drowsy one nods too suddenly. Indeed with this arrangement one may drowse and sleep indefinitely but he can not nod. His neck is in a vice-like grip and his chin rests on padded upholstering. Very sane little apparatus. But it would probably look funny to walk into an office and see a group of executives sitting around a table with leather collars around their necks. Without sticking my own neck out I would like to recommend these little doo-dads to theater managers whose plays aren't calculated to keep everybody awake. Then the cash customers could take a snooze without fear or injury and without risking the dangers of toppling over into a neighbor's lap.

AMONG other new and intriguing marvels were red cellophane spats, for women on rainy days; shoes with removable roller skate wheels attached to the heels; a thingumabob which shells hot, boiled eggs for you; a safety bath-rail, which prevents unsteady bathers from slipping on bars of soap with painful and frequently disastrous results; a flea trap (which snares the little things alive), a new-fangled refrigerator, an automatic safety signal, and a thousand other new and bizarre objects.

A. G. Burns of California, president of the inventor's congress this year, explained that a number of the new inventions on display were the work of various gentlemen now in Sing Sing prison and that they, unfortunately, would be unable to attend the congress.

Mr. Burns, incidentally, is the inventor of the saw-toothed bread knife, a duplicate of which no doubt reposes in your kitchen at this moment. He says inventing things is fun.

Grab Bag

One-Minute Test.

1. What is the origin of the word "lace?"
2. What is the capital of North Dakota?
3. Is the velocity of light in water greater or less than its velocity in air?

Hints on Etiquette.

The first rule of dinner table conduct is to be correctly seated. Sit erect but not rigid or tense; put feet firmly on the floor, elbows off the table, hands in the lap when they are not in use.

Words of Wisdom.

The care of human life and happiness, and not their destruction, is the first and only legitimate object of good government.—Jefferson.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. "Lace" comes from the Latin "laqueus," meaning noose. The word describes the way lace was made by tying one small noose to another.
2. Bismarck.
3. The velocity of light in water is less than its velocity in air.

STORY OF GUIDE IN NOTED ABBEY HEADS FICTION

Roger Vercel's 'Tides of Mont St. Michel' Among Public Library's New Books.

Roger Vercel gives his readers a straightforward and realistic modern hero in "Tides of Mont St. Michel" which was added to the Mansfield Public library's fiction list this week.

The author portrays a hero who achieves spiritual independence as he makes his living as a guide in the famous abbey of St. Michael. At first Andre Brelet and his beautiful wife, Laura, scorn the idea of a guide's position for one of his ability and social standing, but in the end Andre realizes the narrowness of their understanding and the shallowness of his wife.

"Crippled Splendor" by Avan John Simpson is a historical novel based on the strange and exciting life, the glorious romance and the terrible death of James Stewart, king of Scotland.

"This Is Me, Kathie," by Julia Truitt Yenni is another one of those currently popular novels of the South. It is a character study of Kathie Beecham whose sister was the belle of a little Louisiana town. The story is engaging chiefly because Kathie is made a refreshingly original character.

New fiction this week also included "Silver String," by Jarrett; "Devil and the Deep Sea," Jordan; "Earth Tube," Pendray; "Judas Window," Carr; "This Passion Never Dies," Winther; "They Sailed For Senegal" by McArthur; "A. Hall and Company" by Lincoln; "Bricks Without Straw," Norris; and "Night Must End," Price.

Surveys European Situation.

Topping the non-fiction list is a volume that will be decidedly interesting at this time, both because of its content and its author. "Unto Caesar" by Fritz August Voigt is a clear, readable and accurate survey of the European situation. The author is the Foreign Affairs editor of one of England's greatest newspapers and the only newspaper in England that refused to see the situation through the eyes of Prime Minister Chamberlain. The Manchester Guardian was the sole publication to intimate that Great Britain was sacrificing Czechoslovakia to please Hitler, as long as six months ago.

Voigt analyzes Marxism and National Socialism both in theory and practice to explain the motivation of the Russian and German experiments. In addition he discusses armaments, sanctions, the Spanish war and also examines the effects of the Versailles treaty.

"Retreat From Reason" by Lancelot Thomas Hogben is a plea for scientific humanism; that is, the application of science to human progress. "Swannee River: Strange Green Lands" by Cecile Hulse Matschat brings to light an almost unknown part of this country in a combination of history, legend, nature study and fine descriptive writing.

Other non-fiction this week includes: "Utopian Uruguay" by Hanson; "Famous Utopias" by More and others; "Amateur Telescope Making — Advanced"; "Refrigeration Engineering" Macintire; "Air Conditioning," Fuller; "Story of Sterling"; "Guide to Old French Plate," Carre; "Fun of Photography," Scacheri; "D'Annunzio," Antongini; "Marine Game Fishes of the Pacific Coast," Walford; "Tree Flowers," Rogers; "Book of Sporting Painters," Sparrow; "Personnel Administration," by Tead and Metcalf; "Pharmaceutical Recipe Book" second edition; "Everyday Things in American Life, 1607-1776" by Langdon; "Of the Earth Earthy" by Rawson.

COST THAT MUCH?

Lack of Parking Facilities Costs Drivers 100 Million, Claim.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lack of proper parking facilities costs American motorists $100,000,000 annually in lost time. That is the estimate City Traffic Engineer Leslie J. Sorenson of Chicago gave municipal officials meeting here.

"Traffic engineers have for years concerned themselves almost exclusively with the task of providing highways for moving vehicles," he said. "Now we must turn our attention to the problem of accommodating vehicles that are standing. The problem is fast becoming our most annoying municipal headache."

There is an estimated 670,723,000,000 tons of coal available for mining in Wyoming.

HIT NEW LOW

New Car Sales Last Month Only Half August Total.

Sales of new automobiles in Richland county dropped to 40 in September, the lowest figure in at least three years, Norman P. Henry, deputy clerk of courts in charge of motor registrations, reported today.

Only 10 new trucks were sold during the month as against 15 in August and 20 in September last year.

Less than half as many new passenger cars were sold last month as in August when sales totaled 83.

It was pointed out, however, that sales of new motor vehicles usually drop to a low mark in September, just preceding the introduction of new models by automobile manufacturers.

Hitler and Duce Bring Headaches to Map Companies

CHICAGO —(AP)— Map makers complain of the "Hitler headache."

They revised their maps and globes when Italy conquered Ethiopia. They revised them again when Hitler annexed Austria. Now comes the proposed Sudetenland changes in Czechoslovaki and the map makers are jittery as to "what's next."

Map makers of two Chicago companies and a children's encyclopedia say all these changes are heightening interest in geography and will help business in about two years or so. Meanwhile the cartographers are not sure where to draw their lines and customers hesitate to place new orders.

Officials of one company said the European changes mean revising plates of more than 1,000 of their maps and atlases.

KISSES WIFE, PAYS DAMAGES

Driver Loses Control of Car; Suits Cost $25,300.

CHICAGO—(AP)—It cost Edward Ruff $25,300 to kiss his wife.

The Ruffs, who have been married eight years and have three children, drove Ruff's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Grimm, on a day's fishing trip.

Ruff, driver of the car, leaned over and kissed his wife. The auto left the road and smashed into a culvert. All four persons were injured.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

We purchased one of your Williamson Tripl-life furnaces and have used it two winters and will say we are more than pleased with it. They sure are a perfect furnace. Our house has been very comfortable all over. It takes less fuel than our old furnace did and is so much easier to operate. We cannot speak too highly of a Williamson Tripl-life furnace as they are a perfect furnace."

BIG FOOTED BURGLAR

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(U.P.)—A prowler, known to police only as the "man with the big feet," has completed his 51st burglary, leaving only the single clue—large footprints — for authorities to work on. Included among his burglaries are the homes of City Attorney Erwin W. Hunter and Police Sergeant Zell Spencer.

DRILLED FOR OIL BUT STRUCK 'ICE'

Carbon Dioxide Gas Vein Pierced By Drillers.

WALDEN, Colo. —(AP)— Nature has an excellent dry ice refrigerating plant five miles north of here but unless man can rid it of an oily odor he probably won't be able to use it.

An oil company, drilling for oil, struck a carbon dioxide gas field that will flow at the rate of 25,000,000 cubic feet a day. Dry ice is made from the gas. All efforts to rid the well of its oil content have failed and engineers said the oil odor prevents its use commercially.

Western South Carolina farmers estimate that it costs them about twice as much to raise a mule colt as a yearling calf.

Lethal Gas Kills Last of Kansas City Massacre Gang

RICHETTI PAYS WITH LIFE FOR KILLING OF 5

'What Have I Done to Deserve This,' Murderer Says as He Enters Chamber.

(By Associated Press)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Adam Richetti, last survivor of a desperate trio which terrorized the midwest a few years ago, was executed in Missouri's lethal gas chamber early today for his part in the 1933 Kansas City union station massacre of four officers and their prisoners.

Death of the sardonic, sallow-faced pal of Pretty Boy Floyd blasted the last hope of officials for a first hand account of the sensational mass murders.

Richetti murmured only seven words as authorities strapped him into the chair: "What have I done to deserve this?"

Blindfolded, he walked calmly into the tank, its sixth victim. He gulped several times as officials released the gas, uttered one sharp gasp as the deadly fumes filled the chamber, and struggled momentarily. He was pronounced dead four minutes after the gas was released.

Three Named As Slayers.

Richetti, Floyd and Verne Miller, a former South Dakota sheriff who turned gangster, were named by federal officials as the actual union station murderers.

The massacre was a bungled attempt to rescue Frank Nash, an escaped convict, from officers taking him back to Leavenworth, Kas., federal prison.

Killed in the battle of machine gun, shotgun and pistol fire in the edge of Kansas City's downtown business district were Federal Agent R. I. Caffrey, Police Chief Otto Reid of McAlester, Okla.; two Kansas City Policemen, William J. Grooms and Frank E. Hermanson—and Nash.

Robert Hermanson, son of one of the victims and now a Kansas City policeman, witnessed the Richetti execution.

A painstaking check of all long distance telephone calls the night before the massacre, June 17, 1933, finally furnished officers the clue which solved the case.

Richetti was the only one of the three men named specifically by the government as the assassins to face trial.

Miller was slain by other gangsters near Detroit.

Floyd, the elusive Oklahoman who began as a small town bank robber and eventually led his murderous gang throughout the midwest, was slain escaping a trap set by officers in eastern Ohio.

Richetti was caught in the same trap near Wellsville, Ohio, in 1934, returned, convicted of murdering Hermanson and sentenced to die.

Up and Down THE STREET

Fred Rahfeldt, Zearing, Ia., will remember "passing through" Mansfield. In fact the city will always have a mark around it on his maps. He was on his way home last Sunday and wrecked, or rather demolished, his car on Park avenue west road. Rahfeldt and his dog, Curley, crawled out of the car unhurt. The car was junked and Rahfeldt has been detained here all week while waiting on a new car, but had made arrangements to leave today. But last night Curley disappeared and now Rahfeldt has to wait until he locates his pet. It is a white, long-haired dog, with a brown ear, a cross between collie and terrier. Anyone who has seen the "Iowa pup" can contact the owner through the Colby-Earick auto agency.

J. H. Perrill, mathematics teacher at John Simpson Junior high, is the last word in "absent minded professors," for his absent-mindedness extends over hours at a time. Wednesday morning he drove to the school from his home, 279 West Third street. In the afternoon he walked down town and then back home for dinner. In the evening he walked down again and back. The next morning he got up and walked to school—and was amazed to see his car parked near the building. Not until that moment had he realized that his car wasn't home in the garage. In other words, he didn't miss it until he found it.

If the new member of the Kyler family is a boy, Kyler has to eat bread and water and buy a chicken dinner for Capt. Bell, who has been dieting for weeks. But if a daughter arrives, then Kyler dines on chicken and Capt. Bell has bread and water.

It pays to have a brother on a championship baseball team, Ed Henrich admits. Ed was on his way east today to see the New York end of the world series as a guest of his brother, Tommy, who holds down an outfield post for the fast-stepping Yankees. Few complimentary tickets are given out for the series games, but Tommy, assured of a split of between $6,000 and $7,000 in series money can well afford to act as his host, Ed figures.

HOUSE PROBERS HEAR GERMANS LAUNCH U. S. ESPIONAGE DRIVE

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The house committee on un-American activities temporarily suspended public hearings today after hearing testimony that the German government has launched an intense espionage program in the United States.

Investigating activities of Nazi and Fascist organizations in this country, Chairman Dies, D., Tex., heard Arnold Gingricp, editor of the magazine Ken, call for detailed inquiry into German espionage.

Gingricp's testimony centered on activities of the silver shirts, an American Fascist organization. But it also extended into charges of German espionage.

He testified that within the past year, the German secret service—the "Gestapo"—added three new departments, all devoted to espionage in this country.

Gingricp then turned to activities of American Fascist organizations. He quoted from articles published by his magazine, attempting to show connection of American industrialists with such groups.

He introduced letters indicating that Spencer J. Warwick, whom he described as Ohio cammander of the silver shirt, last year attempted to arrange a conference with Tom Girdler, board chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, and R. J. Wysor, president of the corporation.

At Cleveland, however, a Republic Steel spokesman said officials of the corporation know nothing about such propositions.

Gingricp suggested that the committee look into the matter.

He introduced two letters which he said were written by Warwick to Miss Susan Sterling of Lakewood, O. One of them, dated July 15, 1937 at Asheville, N. C., said that "we hope when we come (to Cleveland) that you will be ble to ascertain whether Mr Girdler and Mr. Wysor will be in Cleveland, so that we can have a private conference with them."

There was nothing in the letter, however, to show that the conference was held.

APPEAL DECISION

Hospital and Children's Home Seek Share of Estate.

The Good Samaritan hospital at Galion and the Methodist children's home at Worthington, legatees under the will of the late Jacob Flowers of Sandusky township, today had appealed to Richland county common pleas court from a probate court decision which gave the entire estate to heirs of Mr. Flowers.

The appeal was filed after Probate Judge C. J. Anderson refused to grant the two institutions a new trial in their attempt to obtain a part of the $30,000 estate left by Mr. Flowers, Sandusky township farmer.

Judge Anderson recently ordered distribution of the estate to 118 heirs in several states after the Ohio Supreme court had ruled out the will of Mr. Flowers which gave the estate to three religious organizations and the Mansfield Salvation Army.

WALLACE ACTS TO OBTAIN NEW FARM MARKETS

Personnel Shift Consolidates All Marketing Activities; Tolley Heads Bureau.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Officials said today the agriculture department would put greater emphasis on finding new domestic markets for surplus farm products when the reorganization ordered by Secretary Wallace has been completed.

Wallace last night ordered drastic changes in the organization of the department and shifts of many of the top-ranking officials into new posts.

The changes will consolidate in on bureau all the department's marketing activities, including regulation of the nation's commodity and livestock market. These at present are divided among several bureaus.

All In One Bureau.

All research also will be centered in one bureau. Its functions will include development of new industrial uses for farm products.

All planning for department activities, heretofore divided among a dozen or more semi-independent agenices, will be done by the bureau of agricultural economics.

H. R. Tolley, former Indiana school teacher who has been head of the agricultural adjustment administration, will be in charge of the bureau.

It will develop crop control programs—an activity now carried on by the AAA—and will form policies and plans for soil erosion control, rehabilitation of farm families on relief, forestry control price stabilization and land use.

Other bureaus, including the AAA, will carry out and administer programs developed by the planning bureau.

Wallace said the new marketing division would give the department opportunity to "devote the same concentrated attention to marketing that we now devote to production and conservation." It will be directed by A. G. Black who has been head of the bureau of agricultural economics.

In line with the projected activities to expand domestic farm markets is a proposal, now being studied by the administration, to subsidize consumption of surplus cotton by relief and low-income families, and a congressional authorization for the establishment of four laboratores to search for new industrial uses for farm commodities.

ENDORSE DEMS

Labor League Puts Approval on Entire State Slate.

Labor's Non-partisan league today placed its endorsement on the complete slate of Democratic candidates for state offices in Ohio, Senator Robert J. Bulkley for re-election and 19 Democratic candidates for congress, including William A. Ashbrook, in the 17th district.

The league virtually ignored Republican candidates, endorsing only one, Thomas A. Jenkins, of Ironton, incumbent congressman in the 10th district. No endorsements were made for congress in the Fourth, Sixth, Ninth and 12th congressional districts.

The Democratic candidates for congressman-at-large, Stephen M. Young and John McSweeney, also were approved.

Among the candidates endorsed by the league for state offices were Charles Swayer for governor; James Metzenbaum for lieutenant governor, William J. Kennedy for secretary of state, Clarence J. Knisely for treasurer and Herbert S. Duffy for attorney general.

FAIR ENOUGH!

U. S. Should Look to Day When Nazi Agents Make Autonomy Demand Here

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The German Nazis in New York and New Jersey are following the same general plan of conspiracy against this easy-going democracy that succeeded in Czechoslovakia. Fritz Kuhn, the leader of the bund, like Konrad Henlein, Hitler's deputy in the Sudetenland, possesses citizenship in which he serves der fuehrer.

Henlein had a Czechoslovakian passport, and, as a citizen of that nation, employed for her destruction the rights of free speech and assembly which minorities do not possess in Germany.

* * *

The treachery in Czechoslovakia began modestly, and the bund movement here, adhering to the Henlein plan, thus far avoids any mention of anschluss with the reich. Much remains to be done before the neighbors in which the bund members are congregated may frankly identify themselves as islands of Germandom and appeal to Hitler to save them and place them under the protection of the German sword.

Nevertheless, Herr Kuhn and the Nazi consular diplomatic forces in this country would be justified in looking toward a time when, under pressure of distress, the United States, like Czechoslovakia, might be unable to resist.

In such circumstances, of course, Mussolini would be tempted to rescue certain island outposts of Italian Fascists in our midst, and Poland, which has shown a fine sense of timing and power in seizing the Teschen district of Czechoslovakia, might show a similar interest in portions of Chicago and Milwaukee.

Mussolini, in his official press, has remarked that we are a nation of gangsters and lack culture, and it is important to remember that the Rome-Berlin axis holds mongrel nations without culture have no right to exist. Gangster nations, of course, may be shot on sight.

"Mongrel" is not a kind word, but candor compels the admission that, peopled as she is by refugees and other immigrants from many lands and their descendants, the United States is the home of a composite race.

Already, Herr Kuhn marshals uniformed forces of, so to speak, Sudeten Americans, armed, up to now, only with such weapons as may be concealed from sight, although there have been Nazi rallies of military character in which rifles were carried for escort purposes and for innocent practice on the target range. Italian Black Shirt Americans have joined the Sudeten Americans in some of these cultural exercises, and, as far as they have gone, the Nazis in particular, and the Fascists less aggressively, have followed the Henlein method.

The next step would be to elect representatives in the legislature and in congress. That would be followed by demands for formal recognition by the state and federal governments of foreign minorities and a voice in American affairs for the representatives of Hitler and Mussolini.

Autonomy would come next on the list of demands, accompanied by demonstrations of semi-military organizations wearing foreign uniforms and giving allegiance to fuehrer and duce. And, finally, rescue and anschluss.

The Dies committee of congress, hampered as it is by public apathy, insufficient money and the unfortunate limitations of a personnel selected for its mediocrity, has at least cracked the crust of an anti-American conspiracy for conducting under remote control by two foreign and ostensibly friendly nations.

Attempts have been made to laugh it all off as mere publicity for Mr. Dies, but the American sense of humor will wonder what's the joke.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It took the Legionnaires to define Hollywood's pet word.

This town didn't know what "colossal" meant until it took an incredulous popeyed look at that snaky snarl of cars and buses crawling in endless line from somewhere in Hollywood, over Cahuenga Pass, down Dark Canyon road and through the Warner lot.

The official count showed that the occupants of 4,450 cars and 380 buses, or 48,300 people, saw the inside of a studio and movies-in-the-making. All between the hours of noon and 5:30 p. m. And all without a hitch, unless you count the inevitable traffic jams.

* * *

Let's take that tour. Have your tickets ready at the west gate. We're in—and off:

Straight ahead is the "Avenue of Flags." (You'll get nowhere if you look for a Nazi Swastika.)

To our right there's a cutie in a Sonja Henie outfit—white fur, legs—but cute! She waves, smiles, sheltered under a silvery reflector from the broiling September sun. There's a phony winter scene behind her—framed backdrop—the kind the movies really use, sometimes. But lookit those African jungle warriors over on the left (from Central avenue, just like in the movies) brandishing spears. Jungle backdrop. Bathing beauties sunning, more bathing beauties; chorines piled on the fragment of a cockpit, against a backdrop of clouds; feathered Indian braves, and Hula girls hulaing.

The voice from the loudspeaker is "guiding" us: Follow the line to the western street. . . . They're shooting. . . . There's a camera and the "mike," and the director with a real megaphone. . . . Cowboys and horses. . . . Action!

The voice again, describing standing sets, liberally sprinkling in Warner picture "credits." . . . Past the "Tovarich" set that French street. . . . They're shooting! Don Paige (erstwhile Don Alvarado, the romantic lead) is directing. . . . It's a sidewalk cafe scene, in Paris. . . . Doughboys and mam'selles. . . . Extras all, except for Leo White, the comedian, and Sidney Bracy, the perennial butler. . . . At intervals, while the cameras "turn" and Don Paige directs—with gestures—White and Bracy and the others go into a "scene." . . . Broad, hamming as they'd never be permitted to ham on the real sets. . . . But that's how they have to do it if we're going to get an idea of picture-making. (On a sound stage, for instance, seeing a real movie being made, we might wait for hours and see no action whatever!)

Now we're turning for the reviewing stand. . . . If we're lucky, we'll see stars. . . . They're coming over, after the official luncheon anyway, to wave at us. . . . Or whenever they're not actually working on the sets. . . . Marie Wilson, Joan Blondell and Dick Powell, Donald Crisp in false whiskers, Errol Flynn with his face smudged, Pat O'Brien, and most of the Warner stars. . . . For a change, stars actually wanted to take part. . . . George Brent flew in from Palm Springs especially for the event. . . . Pat O'Brien begged off his set to show up.... Greetings. . . . And goodbye.... For here's the north gate.

Having taken the tour—on foot—I'm here to state that I saw more of Hollywood-as-it-should-be than I see on any working day.

And I hope the producers get together and solve their endless problem of visitors in some such manner. If visitors cost as much as they're supposed to, why don't the studios co-operate on a permanent "movies-in-the-making" exhibit?

Congenial Folks Make Best Mates

One Of a Series.

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

What Makes Marriage Successful?

How about your tastes? Do you enjoy the same things as the girl or man who appears to be your life partner?

This is one of the most important discoveries to make for any person considering marriage. Are you and the "only girl," or the "only man" kindred in spirits, tastes and interests?

Before you're head-over-heels in the ecstatic madness of love—When you're incapable of sound judgment—discover if that essential ingredient of a happy marriage, congeniality, is real or spurious.

A pretended similarity of tastes has landed millions of mismated couples at the wailing wall. In the beginning, you may play the game of liking the same things as the Desired One, because you're bored, lonesome, want dates—for any one of a dozen other reasons.

But don't fool yourself. Before you get beyond your depth, remember that Nature is the greatest of practical jokers, delighting in throwing dust in the eyes of her victims when she desides to play her pranks.

Beauty is the most common form of dust of which Nature takes advantage. Beauty is the great generator of emotions and feelings. It comes, sees, conquers, without sending up a single danger signal. It makes the serious, sensitive young man see his affinity in the girl whose personality is like the blare of a trumpet and whose voice is like a circus calliope.

It makes the girl who longs to write poetry see in the good-looking, back-slapping, life-of-the-party young man her spiritual counterpart. Like ten-pins in a bowling alley, beauty bowls us all over. Beware of it. Do a little cold calculating before it's too late.

You're sorry for the victims on whom Nature has played her prank, and who find themselves dragging their chains. You're almost as sorry for those rash young flies, caught by pretense hopelessly in the web of an unhappy marriage.

You've seen the girl in tight, high-heeled shoes, pretending to enjoy an outing with a young man who walks for the pleasure of walking. You've smiled over the comedy of the musical addict whose idea of a five-star evening is taking the "only girl" to a symphony concert where you've seen the "only one" devouring yawns while she purrs sweetly of adoring music.

Good literature is the favorite tipple of Mary. You see her lugging armfuls of books from the library, and Mary dreams of writing some day herself. Yet she's going "steady" with a young man whose favorite printed matter consists of cheap thrillers. Good books are long, drawn-out torture to him but they offer a short cut to Mary's affections. She reads aloud to him but his thoughts are miles away.

You know, too, the young man whom the Germans call a Natur Freund, keen on sunsets, scenery, the boom of the surf on the beach. His girl, by choice, knows these things only from the movies.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Oh! But Auntie Madge, he will know!" she shrilled. "How did you ever keep it from him this long?' I tell you there's no use trying to deceive him. He's positively uncanny in the ways he finds out things he's not supposed to know. And when he does find out, his rage will be terrible. He'll take it out on Noel, and me, and you. Why, he's likely to throw us all to the wolves with our plays and roles tied with adhesive tape across our mouths!"

No Mirth in Heart.

It was a fear which caused me to wonder—not for the first time—if Mary's stage career and her happiness with Noel were laid in opposite pans of the scales and which would outweigh the other.

"It's a long story, Darling," I began. "Sit down while I tell it. I'll be as brief as possible."

"Take the rest of the night if you want to," she said. "I'm all keyed up now. It would take more than one sedative to get me down. Go on—spill all the beans. I'll bet four cookies — ginger ones — that Noel's old dad is in the story somewhere—in the villain's role."

Tells Her Story.

"No, it's only a minor role he played this time, although he did turn a bit Machiavellian toward the last."

"If you don't quit stalling!" she threatened, and I plunged into the story of the coming of the royal fugitives, Olina and her mother, to the farmhouse "at my father's behest, of their being spirited away from Philip Veritzen by the Underwoods, and of the bizarre arrangements for protection which had been thrown around the farmhouse.

"Whee-ee!" Mary whistled. Then she stared at me.

"I'll bet old Phil yanked Noel out of his chair and followed 'em down by plane, having a haunch your father would bring them to the farm. Do I go to the head of the class?"

"You're there now," I told her. "But I still don't see how you got Noel away from his father for a trip down here," she said, her beautiful brows furrowed into a troubled frown.

Brings a Sneer.

I hurried through the narrative of Philip Veritzen's demand that Olina come away with him and Noel and "an impeccable chaperone", to a hotel where Noel, with Olina's aid, could revise his operetta.

"Thoughtful, that touch about the chaperone, wasn't it?" Mary sneered.

"Of course, his demand was vetoed promptly," I went on, ignoring her gib. "Then he asked that Noel come to the farmhouse daily for the music. Lillian and I saw a way to give Noel a chance to visit you, so Lillian told Philip Veritzen that Noel could come and stay at the farm, if he remained incommunicado, without even a telephone message from his father."

"That's fine, while it lasts," Mary said, and I reflected that she had voiced no particular perturbation over Noel's being imprisoned in the farmhouse with Olina. "But," she went on while her eyes flashed storm signals, "don't yon know that if nobody else spills the beans when the time comes, dear little Olina will let Papa Veritzen know that Noel spread his wings and flew the coop for several days? And then will the heavens open and the thunderbolts strike!"

Tricks For Fixing New Up Hair-Do

By MME. QUI VIVE.

It appears that the uppity coiffure is not just a subject to be discussed over the tea cups. It is going places.

The upped hairdress is something you have to plan carefully. Unless you know your hair dressing technique, don't attempt it. Be patient. And remember this. the new coiffure goes through a process of evolution until you get it just right. There's no pattern to follow. Hair stylists design according to the material they have with which to work. So must you.

When you develop a mode that flatters you, there will be need of a trim so that tresses will behave agreeably. Getting the correct haircut solves problems.

* * *

There are practical designs to be had. French twists held with side-combs, revived from the remote ages. Layers of puffs placed across the front of the head with a modified pompadour. Ringlets, rolls and waves intermingling. Side locks swept back of the ears, up and down puffs at the rear.

For older women there are swirls across the back, modified rolls on the top of the head, a demure center parting. Always ears are out in the open.

A new trick for supporting elevated curls is the placing of bands of slick, smooth hair beneath them.

That's where she likes to get her scenery. You wonder why she doesn't wait for a bright-lights young man whose idea of life is to know the latest dance step, whose swing is inspired and who has taken a degree in the Big Apple and the Lambeth Walk.

So it goes, Men and Women caught in the net of fancied congeniality; men and women tumbling into the net of pretended congeniality. Why is Nature such a practical joker?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Oct. 8.

According to the astral operations for this day, there may be need of much discretion in the management of the affairs, as a great deal depends upon the sagacity with which several difficult situations or perplexing events are turned to the side of profit and security. The principal danger may come through strange influence or strange persons.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year which will call for all their fortitude, persistency and good management of rather pressing, disappointing or sorrowful events. There is peril to finances through speculation or bad investments, through the machinations of a stranger or some unusual experience or venture. Patience, vigilance and sound judgment are urged in all directions.

A child born on this day may be impressionable, imaginative, idealistic, and progressive. It may be given to deep deflection of its peculiar or rare emotional and mental propensities.

Dried Fruits Offer Variety

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

DRIED FRUITS are not only delicious but are a great health-giving food, containing a large amount of sunshine vitamin, sugar and iron besides other health-giving elements. They are excellent for children. Dried fruits, put out by reputable packers, come to the housewife as a product, every bit of which can be eaten. It is wisest to buy dried fruits packed in cartons and issued under the protection of a reputable trade-mark. This means that the fruit is clean, has uniform standards of quality, cleanliness and purity, and that the fruits have been sun-dried, a most important point.

Fig marmalade is a delicious confection and is nice to put in ornamental containers for small gift purposes. Have a pound of dried figs, rind and juice of a lemon, two ounces of preserved ginger, one-half pound preserving sugar. Wash figs, slice thinly and soak for 24 hours in sufficient water to cover them Put the fruit and the water in which they were soaked into a preserving pan and simmer until tender. Add sugar and stir until it is dissolved. Add lemon juice, grated rind and ginger, chopped fine. Continue to simmer gently till the mixture thickens. Pour into warm jars and cover closely.

Fig mold is another nice dish to be made with figs. Chop a pound of figs finely and set in a jelly made of an ounce of plain gelatine, the juice of a lemon, three ounces of sugar and a pint of water. Serve with whipped cream.

Apple Chutney.

Apple ring chutney is a delicious relish with a delightful tang. Ingredients include a pound of dried apple rings, pint of brown vinegar, eight ounces of brown sugar, one-half ounce ground ginger, two ounces salt, one-quarter teaspoon cayenne, one and one-half pounds onions, four ounces raisins, one-half ounce mustard seed, four ounces dried apricots. Soak apples and apricots overnight; drain. Cut into quarters and put into pan with chopped onions and vinegar. Mash gently to a pulp. Pass through a sieve. Stir in sultanas and other ingredients. Keep in a large bowl and keep stirring for a few days. Then pot and seal.

Raisin slice is another concoction made with healthful raisins Ingredients include one and one-quarter pounds flour, eight ounces seedless raisins, eight ounces ground almonds, one pound sugar, one pound butter, eight eggs, teaspoon baking powder. Beat the butter, sugar and eggs together, then add the ground almonds, the flour, baking powder and raisins. Put in a paper-lined tin and bake in a good oven. Keep one week before cutting.

Russian Dressing — One cup mayonnaise, one-half cup chili sauce, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon prepared mustard, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two tablespoons minced pimento, one tablespoon minced green pepper, one tablespoon chopped pickle. Mix ingredients well in order given. This dressing will keep in the refrigerator and is nice to serve with meat and fish salads.

Apple Pudding—One cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, one egg, one cup milk, two teaspoons baking powder, two cups flour. Mix as for cake, creaming butter, adding sugar, then egg, beaten; then milk alternated with flour which has been sifted with baking powder Put in greased cake pan. Peel apples, core, cut in eighths and spread layer of apples on top of cake. Bake in moderate oven (300 degrees F.).

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

BIDE YOUR TIME

RUSHING AHEAD to try a dangerous finesse, which beats your contract if it fails, is not astute bridge. Much sounder considerations impel making other moves first, if possible, and watching the fall of the cards. It may develop that the finesse is marked to lose, but that a squeeze or lead-throwing play will spell success. If not, you may still finesse.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South bid 1-Heart on this deal. North 3-Hearts, South 4-Hearts. North 5-Clubs, South 5-Hearts and North 6-Hearts.

The spade 9 was led by West, the 5 played from dummy, and, reading South for the Q, East decided to duck the first round and allow the Q to win, so that the K would not set up. He felt, as he could stop the club suit, that there was no danger involved.

Declarer won the first trick with the Q and played the diamond Q to the A. The heart J was led and when the K was played by East, South was relieved, as that left no guess regarding the trump suit. The remaining outstanding heart was drawn and was followed by the play of the club K, the heart 10, heart 9, heart 7, heart 5 and diamond K. East's discards, as well as the discard of the spade 2 by West, informed South that East was down to his spade A. He therefore gave that trick to East, who was forced to return a club.

Tomorrow's Problem.

You can put all but the tomatoes and lettuce through the coarsest knife in the food chopper if you wish. Mix with this Russian dressing and serve. This amount will serve six. It may be served with mayonnaise, French dressing or boiled dressing.

SENIORS SEEK TO RAISE FUNDS FOR GRADUATION

January Class to Sponsor 3 Events; Other Senior High Notes.

The January graduating class at Senior high school will sponsor three events during the next three months to raise money for graduating expenses, Miss Marjorie Campbell, class adviser, announced today.

The class will first stage a skating party Oct. 27 at the Coliseum, which will be open to all students of the school. A dance will be sponsored by the group Dec. 16 in the school gymnasium following the Mansfield-Hamilton basketball game. Within the next few weeks members of the class will begin to sell Christmas greeting cards as their third project.

* * *

The "M" association, boys' athletic club at the school, will sponsor a school dance at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow in the gymnasium following the Mansfield-Columbus East football game. Harold Duda and his orchestra will furnish the music. Arrangements for the event are in charge of Howard Hershey, Richard Nagle, and David Shelley.

Heads Orchestra.

Robert Prosser has been elected president of the high school orchestra for the first semester of the year, S. K. Jorgenson, director, announced today. Others elected are Alvina Spriggins, secretary-treasurer; Joseph Pival, manager, and Vivian Miller, librarian. Ten new members have been added to the orchestra during the past three weeks.

* * *

Thirteen Senior high school girls were selected as members of the "Red Masque" club, as the results of try-outs held during the week. The new members are Gloria Hale, Virginia Williams, Maurine Beal, Marjorie Loomis, Ruth Meisel, Janet Kelly, Joan Twitchell, Betty Bottomley, Ruth Smith, Lenora Hout, Virginia Casperson, Alice Rhoads, and Gertrude Kullman.

Officers selected for the first semester are Mary Bair, president; Marguerite Miller, vice president, and Vivian Miller, secretary-treasurer. The program committee for the semester includes the three officers, Maxine Hartman and Norma Casey.

For the first time in several years, wrestling classes will be conducted at the high school as a part of the athletic program. Floyd Million, history teacher, will be the instructor. The new class will meet each week on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

* * *

Jack Lantz was elected president of the "M" association for the year at a meeting of the group this afternoon. Other officers elected were Richard Nagle, vice president, and Thomas Scott, secretary-treasurer. The club meets every two weeks on Friday. Harry Mehock, assistant coach at the school, is adviser of the group.

Tipsy Drivers to Become 'Villains' In Court Movies

PUEBLO, Colo.—(AP)—The box office will be lacking, but otherwise Pueblo courts soon will be in the movie field

District Attorney Ralph L. Neary plans to take movies on the scene when a person is arrested for drunken driving. Courtrooms are being equipped to show the "flickers."

"A defendant usually has sobered up and is in a presentable condition by the time he appears in court," said Neary. "The officer's word that the man was intoxicated frequently is the only testimony that can be offered.

"Motion pictures will show the defendant as he appeared at the scene of the arrest and at the police station. This sort of evidence will be difficult to refute."

APPLES PLENTIFUL, MARKETS OFFER ALL VARIETIES, SIZES

It's impossible to go into a market or food store these fall days without coming out apple-conscious. They are everywhere, in various sizes, colors and tastes. They are coming in from Ohio and surrounding states — Jonathan, Grimes Golden, Greenings, Northern Spies, and the delicious McIntosh.

They are cheaper now at the beginning of the season than they will be in several weeks, produce dealers say, and it is not too early to buy them for winter storage—if you know how to store them.

While apples head the list of fruits, there are plenty of other varieties. Florida oranges are due here for the week-end and there will be strawberries and red raspberries and pineapples. There are still storage peaches, blue plums and several kinds of grapes. Muscat grapes for wine purposes are also on the market.

The first chestnuts to come to the Mansfield market from Michigan will be available this week-end.

From Ashland will come the first of the Pascal celery for the Saturday market, and there are both red and icicle raddishes and little green onions.

Cranberries and squash and sweet potatoes suggest harvest and Thanksgiving; and cabbage, parsnips, turnips and carrots suggest boiled dinners for these cool evenings.

A new variety of potato, the "red-eye," introduced not long ago, is popular with housewives.

Suggestions for the dinner vegetables: broccoli, wax beans, Lima beans, okra, cauliflower, egg plant, celery cabbage and kale.

United States agricultural exports to Canada the first half of 1938 were nearly double those of the corresponding period of 1937.

FIND SWITCHES

Workmen Recall Days of "Lickin' And Larnin'."

WICHITA, Kans.—(AP)—Razing the old Lincoln school building, workmen discovered a bundle of 35 switches hidden under a stairway that had been walled in when an addition was construted 32 years ago. Miss Hazel Watkins, principal, said they were relics of the day when "lickin' and larnin'" went together.

BOTTLE KILLS COYOTE

FRENSO, Cal.—(U.P.)—Although he claims no honor for marksmanship, Thomas Rose, a rancher, won fame among his neighbors by killing a coyote with a beer bottle at 50 feet. Spotting the animal standing in his yard, Rose hurled the bottle and scored a hit on the animal's head. The coyote toppled over dead.

Spry — In 6-lb., 3 lb. and 1 lb. cans
The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening
TRIPLE-CREAMED!

CHOCO-MALLOW CAKE

½ cup Spry	2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt	½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla	2 cups sifted flour
1 cup sugar	1 cup milk
2 eggs, unbeaten	24 marshmallows
3 ounces chocolate, melted

Combine Spry, salt and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. (Done in no time with smooth, creamy Spry!) Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add melted chocolate and blend well.

Add baking powder and soda to flour and sift 3 times. Add small amounts of flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing after each addition until smooth. Pour batter into two 8-inch layer pans greased with Spry. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. (See what fine, even grain Spry cakes have. Use Spry in this recipe to be sure of best results!)

Cut marshmallows in halves with scissors. Pressing cut sides against cake, arrange on top of each layer. Spread Choco-mallow Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake.

CHOCO-MALLOW FROSTING

3 tablespoons Spry	2¾ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1½ tablespoons butter	¼ teaspoon salt
4 ounces chocolate	¾ teaspoon vanilla
7 tablespoons hot milk

Melt Spry, butter and chocolate together over hot water. (Spry makes frostings deliciously creamy, beautifully glossy.) Pour hot milk over combined sugar and salt and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add vanilla. Add chocolate mixture and beat until smooth and thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting to put between layers and on top and sides of Choco-mallow Cake.

(All measurements in these recipes are level)

Sensational New "No-Scrub" Soap—

NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL Washes Clothes UP TO 15% WHITER

New* High-Test *OXYDOL contains a revolutionary new ingredient that makes it give up to TWICE THE SUDS even in hard water . . . safe as ever for washable colors, fabrics and hands

NOW comes a sensational new advance in soap-making to prove again that "the wonders of science never cease." An amazing new ingredient that makes High-Test OXYDOL far whiter washing, in tub or washing machine. Yet an ingredient that keeps it safe as ever for washable colors—safe for washable fabrics and hands!

Tested against old-fashioned bar and package soaps in hard water, new High-Test Oxydol does these remarkable things:—

(1) Washes white clothes up to 15% whiter, as shown by scientific Tintometer records. (2) Gives up to TWICE as much suds—suds that stand up two to three times longer.

Colors Stay Surprisingly Fresh

New High-Test Oxydol is amazingly safe for washable colored things. In laboratory tests, sheer cotton prints washed as many as 175 times in new High-Test Oxydol suds showed no perceptible sign of fading—came surprisingly fresh!

In tub washing—High-Test Oxydol soaks dirt loose in as little as 10 minutes. No scrubbing, no boiling, as with less modern soaps. Washed this way, clothes last 2 to 3 times longer from the standpoint of washday wear and tear compared with old-fashioned methods.

In washing machines—new High-Test Oxydol soaks dirt loose while the washer is running—gives you DOUBLE-ACTION wash. No need to waste time scrubbing "extra dirty" spots to get clothes really clean. Saves work—saves trouble—saves time.

It Goes Farther, Too

Because of greater washing power, each cup of High-Test Oxydol goes up to one-fourth again as far—does up to 25% more work—than the same amount of old-fashioned soaps. So it's extremely economical, too.

You'll find High-Test OXYDOL at all dealers in the familiar orange and blue bull's-eye package. (No change in the box—the difference is in the soap.) Get a package today. Procter & Gamble.

MORE SUDS MEANS BETTER DISHWASHING, TOO!

GIVES WHITER WASHES THAN EVER— When the old OXYDOL was first introduced, women believed that the last word in laundry soap had been found. But now comes a remarkable new ingredient that makes new High-Test OXYDOL as much as 15% whiter washing than less modern soaps.

The two sketches above illustrate High-Test OXYDOL'S amazing safety for washable colored things. At the left is a drawing showing how a brand-new cotton print appeared before washing. At the right, sketch of same print after being washed 175 times in new High-Test Oxydol suds—yet showing no perceptible sign of fading! What could be a more striking demonstration of OXYDOL'S safety for washable colors—for fabrics and hands?

OXYDOL soaks dirt loose in as little as 10 minutes. Thus ends the washboard scrubbing that shortens the life of clothes.

Picture at left shows a new sheet (highly magnified) scrubbed 84 times with old-style soap. Note fraying in weave, due to hard rubbing and scrubbing . . . On the right, another new sheet washed 84 times the scrubless OXYDOL way. Note difference in "washday wear and tear."
